Nazis Give Up In Holland, Denmark, N.W. Germany

Surrender Effective Saturday Morning

From CP, AP and BUP Dispatches

ADVANCED BATTLE HEADQUARTERS AEF, Germany, May 4. — All German forces in Holland and Northwestern Germany and Denmark, including Heligoland and the Frisian Islands have surrendered unconditionally. The surrender takes effect at 1 a.m. Central Daylight Time on Saturday.

Gen. Eisenhower, in announcing the surrender, said that it had been made to Field Marshal Montgomery's 21st Army Group.

Text of the announcement was as follows:

"Field Marshal Montgomery has reported to the Supreme Allied commander that all enemy forces in Holland, northwest Germany and Denmark, including Heligoland and the Frisian Islands, have surrendered to the 21st Army group effective at 0800 (double British summer time) tomorrow.

"This is a battlefield surrender involving the forces now facing the 21st Army group on their northern and western flanks."

The surrender took out of the war the second major grouping of German forces in two days, following closely on the capitulation of German armies in northern Italy and western Austria.

It leaves as the only German forces of any size still offering resistance the armies in southeastern Germany, northern Austria and Czechoslovakia and the garrison of Norway.

The wholesale surrender in the north followed the capture of 500,000 German troops in Field Marshal Montgomery's territory in the last 48 hours.

PLANES BLAST SHIPS

The surrender negotiations in Denmark came following an abortive attempt by the Nazis to evacuate German troops by water to Norway. Most of the German troops in flight appeared to be trying to reach Norway through the northeast Danish port of Aarhus, where Canadian and RAF fighter bombers sunk 25 ships and damaged another 178 vessels of the escape armada.

If the Nazis had any idea of staging a German Dunkirk it was nipped in the bud by the Allied

Tax Exemption Pension Funds Earnings Urged

By CHESTER BLOOM

Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, May 4.—Earnings of all approved pension funds in the hands of trustees should be exempt from income tax is one of the important recommendations made to the government in a voluminous report of the Ives commission on taxation of annuities and family corporations. The report made by the commission headed by Mr. Justice W. C. Ives, retired chief justice of the Alberta supreme court, was made public at 1:30 p.m. today.

The commission recommends that all pension funds should be subject to official supervision; that the present practice of taxing one-third of lump sum payments from a pension fund should be continued; and that where an employee has been entitled to a deduction from income each year in respect of his contributions to an approved pension fund or plan for income tax pur-

CALCUTTA, May 4.—(BUP)—Japanese armies in Burma have been so decisively defeated that they were unable to defend Rangoon, the capital, a communique said today, revealing that the enemy lost 97,000 dead in the last 15 months of fighting.

Rangoon, with a pre-war population of more than 400,000, fell quickly yesterday when United Kingdom and Indian troops drove into the city after a three-way assault by ground and amphibious forces and paratroopers.

Gen. Eisenhower Says Alexander 'Toast' of Allies

PARIS, May 4—(AP)—It was announced today that Gen. Eisenhower has sent this congratulatory message to Field Marshal Alexander, Allied commander-in-chief in the Mediterranean theatre, marking the surrender of the German army in Italy:

Dear Alex: You and your great command are the toast of the United Nations. Your brilliant successes should give even the stupid German final proof that he is finished. I am happy for you and for all our peoples. It looks as if you and I could soon keep our long standing engagement to join up our forces in the heart of the enemy's homeland. My very best to you and to my old friends serving on your all-star team.—Ike.

Fire Destroys Most of Stores Calmar Village

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

CALMAR, May 4—Fire, injuring two persons and causing damage estimated at $200,000, all but wiped out Calmar's business section late Thursday afternoon. Only one general store is left standing in the town.

Injured were John Stetz, district resident, and his 12-year-old son. Both were rushed to an Edmonton hospital suffering from severe burns.

The blaze started when Stetz' truck ran into gasoline pumps outside Riddocks' Garage, on the town's main street.

The resulting blaze engulfed the garage, Hoffman's garage, nearby, the John Deere implement agency, a blacksmith shop, the Calmar general store, Thomas Bros'. general store, Thomas' barber shop, the Jehovah Witness hall, the residence of W. Fedina and several adjacent

Surrender Follows Talks By Monty, Doenitz Aide

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, May 4.—(BUP)—The German armies of northwestern Germany, Denmark and Holland have surrendered unconditionally to Field Marshal Sir Bernard Montgomery's British and Canadian armies, leaving Nazi resistance isolated in the two pockets of Norway and Czechoslovakia.

The Nazi capitulation was announced at the close of a dramatic conference between Montgomery and a high-ranking but unnamed representative of Grand Adm. Karl Doenitz, the new German Fuehrer who succeeded Adolf Hitler only 72 hours ago.

Montgomery informed Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters in Prais that the surrender would also apply to the pocketed German divisions in Heligoland and on the Frisian Islands off the Dutch coast.

Big Prisoner Problem

Too Many Nazis Quit

By ROMNEY WHEELER

LONDON, May 4.—(AP)—German soldiers, surrendering to British and United States forces by the thousands in a panicky effort to avoid falling into the hands of the Russians, have created a serious problem for Allied authorities charged with keeping them caged and fed.

Front dispatches said German officers and men were virtually racing each other to what they evidently consider the safety of Allied lines. London papers declared the British and American Armies already had taken so many German prisoners that Britain's facilities for feeding and housing them had become inadequate.

Wes Gallagher, Associated Press war correspondent, reported from the U.S. 9th Army front on the Elbe river that the Germans were swarming across the stream, paddling in makeshift rafts or even swimming, in order to surrender.

Premier Says:

Caucus Hears Refunding Plan: Data Sent East

Pending details of decisions made at a caucus of provincial Social Credit members of the legislature here Thursday reaching Hon. J. L. Ilsley, national minister of finance, Premier Ernest Manning has withheld announcement of the results of proposals for the refunding of Alberta's debt.

The premier told newsmen Friday that he did not feel at liberty to reveal the decisions reached at the caucus until federal treasury department officials have learned of their nature.

A letter has been sent by Premier Manning to the national minister of finance detailing the decisions arrived at by the caucus.

DECISIONS REACHED

"All I can say at this time is that the caucus reached decisions on certain basic points involved in the refunding question," Mr. Manning said.

Representatives of the bond companies have made counter proposals for the settlement of the debt to the province following announcement of a plan by the government at the last session of the legislature.

These counter poposals are believed to have received close study at the caucus on Friday.

In the absence of official statements on the matter there was a feeling in government circles Friday that favorable consideration has been given to the latest proposals of the bond companies.

Commandos Raid Dodecanese Isles

CAIRO, May 4.—(BUP)—British-led Greek commandos raided the west coast of Rhodes and the small island of Alinnea nearby Monday night in a continuation of attacks against Germans holding out in the Dodecanese, it was announced today. The raiders killed 32 Germans and captured 30 along with 27 Italians in hand to hand fighting. It was estimated some 17,000 enemy troops still were holding out in the Dodecanese.

Officials in charge of the campaign are confident that the $1,000,000 objective now being sought will be attained before the loan concludes.

The Edmonton Area, with Capt. T. Cogland, MC, as Unit chairman came up to sixth place in the unit standings Friday. Four army groups have not yet attained their original objectives.

Protest Action Of De Valera

LONDON, May 4.—(CP)—The British government will shortly be urged to protest against the action of Prime Minister Eamon de Valera of Eire in calling at the German legation in Dublin to convey his condolences on the death of Hitler.

Two Labor members of the House of Commons and one Liberal will ask Paul Emrys Evans, dominions undersecretary, whose department is responsible for relations with Eire, whether the British government has lodged such a protest in Dublin.

De Valera made the call on German Minister Hempel Wednesday accompanied by Joseph Walsh, secretary of the external affairs department. The flag at the German legation flew at half mast.

LONDON, May 4.—(CP) — The Daily Mirror said today Prime Minister De Valera's action in expressing condolence to the German minister to Eire on Hitler's death "is an insult not only to everyone of the United Nations but also to those thousands of gallant Irishmen who went forth to fight tyranny, and have perished for their faith."

"But perhaps the Irish leader still admires the Nazi way of life and regards as a misfortune the fact it has not been allowed to prevail," the newspaper added in commenting on Wednesday's action of the prime minister of neutral Eire.

"Is diplomatic etiquette so rigid, so exacting and so alien to moral values that the head of a nation still forming part of the British Commonwealth feels himself compelled to take a course which proclaims him a friend of the foulest enemy democracy has ever had to face?" the newspaper asked.

Takes Blast With His Body

Albertan Shields Dutch Kiddies From Exploding Hand Grenade

By DOUGLAS AMARON

WITH THE CANADIAN ARMY IN GERMANY, May 4—(CP)—Around the South Alberta Regiment they've always known that Sgt. Herb Roulston was a brave man. He won the Military Medal back at Brecht in Belgium and on many other occasions he displayed the coolness of a courageous soldier.

The fighting is over for Herb now but the fine impression he left with the SAR is something that will last. With full knowledge of what would happen, he sacrificed a hand and risked death to save Dutch children and some of his army mates from injury.

It was in Tilburg a couple of months ago. Roulston, who owns a farm near Wainwright, Alta., and whose wife lives at Mount Hamilton, Ont., was checking grenades. One slipped, the pin was knocked out, and smoke, which would be followed in five seconds by an explosion, began to rise.

CHILDREN NEARBY

Dutch children were playing in the street around the tanks, other SAR crewmen were working on their Shermans. Roulston grabbed the grenade in his hand and doubled his body over it to reduce the blast.

His hand was blown off, his body from the waist down was peppered with shrapnel and his legs were severely injured. No one else was hurt.

The next day Roulston was to have received his MM—won for recovering a damaged tank under fire. Capt. Gordon Campbell, Edmonton, took the ribbon to him in hospital.

"He was as cheerful as they go," the captain said. "In fact, instead of feeling sorry for himself, he told me it might have been worse. A ribbon seemed a mighty small thing to give a fellow like that."

It Says Here

by Bob Hope

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4.—Attended an international banquet being held in connection with the United Nations conference. They said it was highly formal but everyone laughed when I walked in with my stovepipe hat—maybe I should have taken the damper out of it.

BOB HOPE

You know how all the important people are seated at the table "above the salt" . . . well. I stood up at a sideboard behind two bottles of horseradish. But that was better than one of the delegates did . . . his country was so small he didn't have a seat at the table . . . they stuck him over in the corner in a high chair.

The waiters maintained the international motif . . . if you gave a big tip they put an Italian Vermouth cocktail on the table . . . if it was small they just tossed a Russian Molotov cocktail under your chair.

The first course was oysters a la Rockefeller . . . and when I got my check I knew why they called them that. Then in honor of Russia the next course was borisch . . . and I had quite a lot of trouble blasting the potato out of it . . . fortunately I had my niblick with me.

Conversation was held in many tongues, but I'm at home in lots of languages . . . in fact I've even been evicted from home in four of them.

The principal speaker insisted that honesty must be the keynote of the peace conference . . . he was very impressive . . . in fact, for a minute I almost put the forks back.

The dinner ended with the drinking of a separate toast for each of the 44 nations participating . . Bulgaria and I went down together.

Premier Churchill Still in London

By E. FRASER WIGHTON

LONDON, May 4. — (Reuters) — Prime Minister Churchill is still in London this morning.

A statement from 10 Downing Street said that Prime Minister Churchill was in London and that there was "nothing to all these rumors" that he had left for Germany.

That is the answer to the flood of speculation and rumor which during the past 24 hours have pictured the Prime Minister hurrying to points of the globe varying from Washington to Berlin.

If news of German capitulation breaks today, it is almost certain that Mr. Churchill will go to the House of Commons to announce the fact.

Mr. Churchill is understood to have indicated to cabinet members that their presence in London—or within easy reach of the capital—is desirable this week-end.

Call For Defeat Tory Candidates

TORONTO, May 4.—(CP) — The political action committee of the Canadian Seamen's Union (CCL), today issued a call to all seamen and their families "to defeat Tory candidates in the Dominion and Ontario elections." Union members were urged to vote for candidates "who favor a coalition government in which labor will be well represented."

Blaze Damages Piles of Lumber

Damage amounting to about $100, all confined to lumber piles at the Northern Box Factory, 80 street and 114 avenue, resulted from fire which broke out about 5:30 p.m. Thursday. Cause of the blaze was spreading grass fires, said to have been started when a number of youths with matches set fire to the dry growth in the vicinity. The loss is covered by insurance.

Considerable building material is stored on the property of the box company, which is filling war orders for boxes.

Halls Nos. 5 and 7 responded to the alarm with three rigs. Three lines of hose were laid, under the direction of District Chief Harvey.

Looming ahead for Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's formidable land, sea and air forces in Southeast Asia are Malay, Thailand and Indo-China.

The harbor of Rangoon was expected to be ready for a tremendous amount of Allied shipping within a few days.

Capture of the city broke a two-year Japanese hold on Burma and marked the end of a long overland drive from the Indian city of Imphal by British 14th Army troops under Lt. Gen. Sir H. J. Slim.

While Burma was not entirely cleared, British staff officers viewed the remaining operations as mopping up of isolated Japanese pockets northeast and northwest of Rangoon.

Former Leaders Soon to Arrive Back in France

By EDWARD KENNEDY

PARIS, May 4—(CP)—Edouard Herriot, Leon Blum and Paul Reynaud, all former premiers of France and all just out of German internment camps, are expected momentarily in France.

M. Herriot comes home as a national hero and the welcome his home town of Lyon is preparing for him may equal any ovation General Charles de Gaulle has received.

M. Blum and M. Raynaud return as men who in the past have been blamed in part for France's fall. But they are untainted by any charges of collaboration and they suffered for their opposition to the Nazis.

Their respective partisans are waiting to greet them warmly and many other Frenchmen may join in acclaiming them.

Suggests Changes Housing Act Plan

WINNIPEG, May 4—(CP)—Mark J. Long, Progressive Conservative candidate in Winnipeg North Centre yesterday urged amendments to the National Housing Act to provide a revolving fund of $350,000,000 for housing.

Mr. Long told Winnipeg's special committee on housing that every candidate in the June 11 Dominion election should take a stand on the housing situation.

He suggested such a revolving fund be made available to all Canadian citizens for homes to cost not more than $5,000 with a down payment of $200, or a title to a lot, and monthly payments of $29.50 to cover the loan, interest and annual taxes up to $80.

The Progressive Conservative candidate urged that interest charges on loans from the revolving fund be not more than two per cent. with the Dominion taking responsibility for administration work.

Foe Surrender Soon Follows Dramatic Talks

representing the last effective fighting force on the European continent outside Norway and Czechoslovakia, were involved in the mass surrender, in addition to well over 500,000 Nazis who laid down their arms on the British front in the past two days.

There were still many minor pockets of resistance including areas around French ports and reports said negotiations for their surrender also were under way.

A brief announcement of the northern capitulation, issued at Eisenhower's headquarters, emphasized that this was a "battlefield surrender" to Montgomery's 21st Army group and not to the Allied governments.

THROW AWAY WEAPONS

Serious resistance to the British forces had begun melting away before the announcement of the surrender. British United Press war correspondent Richard D. McMillan reported that German troops were throwing away their weapons by the hundreds of thousands, refusing flatly to fight, and their staff officers, wandering freely through the Allied ranks, admitted it was all over.

TheCzechoslovak pocket in the south was rapidly being enveloped and neutralized by American and Russian forces converging on the Austrian city of Linz. The American Third Army late today drove within three miles northeast of Linz and a juncture with the Russians in that area appeared imminent.

OVERRUN REDOUBT

At the extreme southern end of the front, American Seventh Army troops overran most of the empty Bavarian redoubt, capturing the keystone base of Salzburg without a fight and closing within artillery range of Berchtesgaden.

Other Seventh Army troops pushed down through the Brenner pass to link up with the American Fifty Army in northern Italy, splitting the redoubt and establishing a solid 1,000-mile Allied front across Europe from Denmark to Sicily.

Stockholm and Paris reports told without official confirmation of a dramatic meeting between Montgomery, Doenitz and other Nazi leaders. Paris said the so-called "peace conference" was at Alabenraa Castle, just over the Danish frontier. Stockholm agreed that it was there or elsewhere in the border region.

HIGH NAZI'S PRESENT

The Swedes said Col. Gen. Geo. Lindemann, German commander in Denmark, and possibly Dr. Werner Best, German governor in Denmark; Josef Terboven, reichcommissar in Norway, and Admiral Fritz Boehm, German commander in Norway, attended the reported conference.

Paris reported confirmation from Copenhagen of the meeting yesterday afternoon at Alabenraa Castle, adding that Lindemann and Terboven were present.

Whatever the outcome, Denmark looked wide open to the inmoving British Second Army. The Danish Freedom Council issued an announcement saying:

"Allied troops are crossing the Danish frontier. Parts of Denmark already are liberated. It is the natural duty of the Danish people to give the Allied troops all possible assistance."

Allied transports with food for civilians were going through the German "lines" under some sort of agreement, the Oslo radio said, and Stockholm reported flatly from Copenhagen that the Germans "no longer control the Danish border."

A Stockholm dispatch reported the organization of a new Danish cabinet under Premier Wilhelm Buhl.

SAID IN JUTLAND

Unconfirmed Stockholm advices said the Doenitz government presumably was somewhere in South Jutland. One report said Doenitz appeared to have established headquarters at the Moervick naval base near Flensburg, where Heinrich Himmler also was reported vaguely to be.

Malmo reports relayed through Stockholm said German troops mutineed at Copenhagen barracks yesterday but the uprising was surpressed. They added that 400 German sailors mutinied in Alabenras harbor yesterday and all were jailed.

Most of the Swedist reports emanated from Malmo, directly across a narrow channel from Copenhagen, capital of occupied Denmark.

A BBC broadcast heard over an American army transmitter said that a general surrender of German forces in the crumbling northern redoubt "may come at any moment."

LITTLE FIGHTING

Fighting had all but ceased on the Netherlands front, where Allied trucks were rushing in food supplies under a truce. It was possible that surrender of the 75,000-odd German troops there already had been arranged and would be announced after the Montgomery-Doenitz negotiations had been concluded.

An exchange Telegraph dispatch from Zurich said Count Ludwig Schwerin Von Krosigk, the new German foreign minister, had ousted Dr. Karl Farnck, Nazi extremist, as governor of Bohemia Moravia in a move calculated to please the Allies.

The Doenitz government yesterday declared Prague, capital of Bohemia and prewar Czechoslovakia, a hospital city, an indication that the protectorate may soon capitulate.

The main factor complicating any peace negotiations probably was the Allies' insistence that Germany must surrender to Russia as well as to the United States and Britain. The Germans repeatedly have shown their willingness to surrender to the western Allies.

The German attitude was demonstrated again by Nazi Munitions Minister Albert Speer in a broadcast over the Nazi-controlled radio at Kalundborg, Denmark, last night.

ADMITS DEFEAT

Speer admitted Germany has been beaten to the point where the Allies could impose any peace terms they desire, but said the Army must continue to bear arms against Bolshevism.

Speaking as though an armistice already had been signed, Speer called upon the German people to repair railways, build houses and otherwise prepare for a lean future.

He likened the devastation caused by the war in Germany to that left by the 30 years war.

Church at Islay, Elevator Burned

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

ISLAY, May 4.—The Anglican church and the Alberta Pool elevator were destroyed and a number of houses damaged in a fire here Thursday, believed to have originated in the upper part of the elevator building from an overheated bearing. The fire spread to the CNR station, and from there in a northwesterly direction through the village. The fire brigade labored from 5:30 p.m. until 9 p.m. to bring the blaze under control.

Later reports Friday told of about 20 men in the Vermilion fire and chemical control brigades rushed to Islay to combat the flames. It was learned the CNR station had been completely destroyed, together with about four residences and a number of small, private garages. Smouldering cinders were believed all extinguished by midnight.

Tax Exemption Pension Funds Earnings Urged

poses, the pension should be fully taxed when received.

That where an employee has not been entitled to a deduction from income each year for such contributions, only a proportionate part of the pension should be taxable.

OTHER RECOMMENDATIONS

Other recommendations include the following:

That the capital element represented in contractual annuities should be exempt from taxation under the Income War Tax Act but that portion which represents interest accruing should be taxable as income.

That the method now employed in determining and taxing the income portion of a term certain annuity should be extended to life annuities by using life expectancy as the term.

That annual or periodic payments received under the provisions of a will or trust should be considered taxable income to the extent only that they are paid out of the income of the estate or trust.

WITHDRAW RIGHT

That the right of the trustees of a pension fund to elect under section 5 (1) (S) of the Income War Tax Act should be withdrawn and the special arrangements arising out of elections already made be discontinued for the future.

That a pension continuing to dependents should be taxable as income in their hands in the proportion that the original pension was taxable.

That succession duties should not be imposed on the value of a survivor's pension receivable as taxable income.

That the present limits placed upon deductions from income with respect to employers and employees' contributions to an approved pension fund or plan should be removed.

Plan "Check-Up" Of Farm Workers On Postponement

OTTAWA, May 4.—(CP)—Labor Minister Mitchell announced last night that National Selective Service was making a "sample" check among 10 per cent. of the 160,000 men in agriculture on postponement from military training to make sure they were remaining at that work.

"It is the intention," said Mr. Mitchell, "to see to it that men given postponement of military training for the purpose of working in agriculture shall work at that industry.

While the assistance men from the farm have given to other hard-pressed industries during the slack season on the land is much appreciated, it is impossible to let men from the farm leave that industry the year round."

BRITISH READY FOR ARRIVAL LORD HAW HAW

LONDON, May 4.—(CP)—A cell is all ready in the Tower of London for Lord Haw Haw—the British traitor, William Joyce—who broadcast for the Nazis, the Daily Mail said today.

Asserting that there were European reports unconfirmed in London that Joyce already had been captured, the Daily Mail said the cell had housed many notorious prisoners and that guards were standing by.

German Forces Give Up Fight On More Fronts

fliers who poured a rain of bombs, rocket shells and armor-piercing bullets into the Nazi ships.

The fliers also had a field day along the roads in Denmark, destroying over 1200 vehicles caught along the escape routes to the north.

Denmark and Czechoslovakia were the only parts of the front where any activity was reported.

CENTRAL FRONT QUIET

The central sector of the front is quiet since the American-Russian link-up. Western Allies and Red Army troops are now linked on a front of more than 100 miles, and are engaged only in policing and general occupation duties. More than three-fifths of the United States troops in Europe are now idle, including all the troops of the U.S. 1st and 9th Armies, while the U.S. 7th and 3rd Armies are advancing in Czechoslovakia hampered only by an unseasonable snowfall.

Queen Wilhelmina already has returned to the previously liberated portion of the Netherlaands awaiting return to the Dutch capital, and 1st Canadian Army truck convoys and Allied planes have been penetrating German lines for several days to take food to the famished population.

DANE KING READY

In Denmark King Christian is reported ready to resume his prerogatives with most of the members of parliament already on hand to take over their duties.

Denmark had been under the German heel since the morning of April 9, 1940, when German troops arrived in Copenhagen in the surprise stroke that swept over both that country and Norway.

Holland was invaded a month later, May 10, and the Germans virtually completed their occupation of that country four days later when the Dutch commander surrendered his forces.

Gen. Eisenhower's announcement ended uncertainty of several hours in which various reports had told of capitulation negotiations on the Danish frontier and the cessation of hostilities in Holland.

REPORTS CONFLICT

The German-controlled Oslo radio had broadcast conflicting reports of a surrender in Holland, and Stockholm reports had insisted that negotiations for a surrender in Denmark and perhaps Norway were in progress.

Gen. Eisenhower's announcement said nothing concerning Norway, however.

There have been indications that what is left of the Nazi regime might be fleeing to Norway. The latest of these indications was the blasting of German convoys fleeing toward that country.

Hamburg is an example of how the German mind is working today. There armed German military police are working as traffic controls, directing British tanks, armored cars and convoys through the ruins of the port. Street cars are running, electric lights work and the bomb blitzed docks are being repaired and put in operational order. For Hamburg the war is over, and they are beginning to put the pieces together again.

In the South on the American army front the U.S. 7th Army joined with the Allied 5th army from Italy. The meeting took place at Vipiteno, 10 miles inside Italy, in the snowy Brenner Pass.

On their way down the U.S. 7th captured Innsbruck, capital of the Tyrol, and fourth largest city in Austria.

The American 3rd Army besieged Linz, invaded Bohemia and moved forward to a junction with the Russians west of Vienna. The junction, expected momentarily, will bisect the southern German pocket.

Jailed Bigamist, Aged 60 Years, Has 15 Children

MONTREAL, May 4.—(CP)—Sixty-year-old Joseph Emard was charged with bigamy yesterday, with two women who claimed to be married to him saying that he was the father of 15 children. Agnes Rilley, who claimed to be Emard's first wife, said he was the father of her nine children born before he disappeared in 1911. Florida Barr testified she was married to Emard in 1932 and had since had six children by him. Emard was remanded until May 9.

Doukhobors Stage Nude Demonstration

BRILLIANT, B.C., May 4.—(CP)—Members of the Sons of Freedom, radical Doukhobor sect, were reported demonstrating Monday at nearby Krestova. A building was set on fire and its tenants were forced to escape by ropes. Canadian Pacific Railway train crews reported they had seen 20 nude demonstrators at neighboring Gilpin. Guards have been posted at all villages in the area to prevent possible damage to property.

Declare Hitler Not in Berlin

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, May 4—(AP)—The mystery of what happened to Adolf Hitler deepened yesterday when the well-known Soviet commentator, Nikolai Tikhonov, wrote in Pravda: "Hitler is not in Berlin."

At the same time, Russian troops continued a stone-by-stone search for the German leader's body in Berlin's smoking ruins, and considerable skepticism was expressed here of captured Nazi propagandist Hans Fritsche's assertion that Hitler and propaganda minister Goebbels had committed suicide.

Tikhonov's Pravda report, possibly rhetorical, said: "Whether Hitler fled to the Devil's Nest or to the other world, to the embraces of some Fascist protectorate, it is all the same. He is not in Berlin. But we will find out what actually happened to him. And if he has fled, we will find him no matter where he has found shelter."

The Hitler mystery remained foremost in the minds of Russian people. Most refused to believe he was dead.

German Controlled Radio "Folds Up"

LONDON, May 4.—(Reuters)—German-controlled Kalundborg radio in Denmark announced last night that it was suspending transmission until further notice. Kalundborg is on the west coast of the Danish island of Zealand, 55 miles west of Copenhagen on the east coast. Stockholm reports in the last few days said that the Germans were evacuating the big towns on Zealand.

Urge Austrians To Foil Germans

NEW YORK, May 4.—(AP)—Field Marshal Alexander, Allied commander in the Mediterranean, broadcast instructions to Austrians yesterday to "foil the last destructive actions of the Germans" and to demonstrate that they have renounced their past association with the Nazis. "Thus the Austrians can do their share and lay the foundation on which an independent Austrian state is to be built," said the proclamation, recorded by the Office of War Information.

storehouses. The fire was still being fought at 10 p.m.

PHONE SERVICE HALTED

Communication with Edmonton was interrupted when telephone lines went down at the height of the blaze. Service was restored three hours later.

Two cars stored in one of the garages were destroyed. Damage to contents of other gutted buildings is not yet ascertained. While the village post office was badly damaged, newly-arrived mail was saved by prompt action of the postmaster, who rushed it to safety.

Constable Murray, Leduc detachment, RCMP, directed efforts of the village fire brigade, while firefighters from Leduc, 10 miles to the east, also fought the blaze.

Fire Chief McGregor of Edmonton took a part in fighting the outbreak.

Insurance adjusters were expected to begin Friday to estimate total damage caused by the fire.

Calmar is about 30 miles from Edmonton.

Once Elite of Germany

Wehrmacht Dying Shameful Death

By WES GALLAGHER

ON THE ELBE RIVER IN GERMANY, May 4.—(AP)—Germany's once proud Wehrmacht is dying a shameful death on the banks of the Elbe.

SS Panzer troops — once Germany's elite — paddle across the river in makeshift rafts. Sometimes they swim, leaving their medal-bedecked tunics behind.

Their coming has created a grave problem for American military commanders. The American 9th Army does not want them but they come anyway and military men are afraid the Russians may feel the western Allies are giving shelter to the enemy.

Every effort has been made to discourage surrenders.

The Germans come up to the river under white flags, row across, and say they are going to surrender, and the troops can't do anything but accept them. Enemy generals come up to regimental command posts to await their turn and nothing is accepted but unconditional surrender.

Anyone standing on the Elbe couldn't help but feel the war is over, V-E declaration or no.

That enemy generals are standing in line is no figure of speech.

At one regimental command post there were two generals, one a panzer army commander, and a half-dozen colonels all trying to surrender their units. The two generals weren't speaking to one another. All sat with hard Prussian stares while the interpreter for the panzer general made it clear that the other general "had no rating at all," that he had no authority and that, besides, the panzer general was there first.

1,200 Foe Vehicles Blasted by Planes

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Paris, May 4—(AP)—Some 1,200 enemy vehicles, among the thousands in headlong flight toward Denmark from the North German border area, were destroyed or damaged in Allied air attacks yesterday, headquarters announced today.

Nine enemy ships were sunk and more than 100 damaged, some of them left in flames, by rocket-firing fighters and fighter-bombers, as the Germans attempted to evacuate troops in all types of craft in the Kiel and Luebeck Bay areas, the communique said.

Many enemy aircraft were destroyed or damaged on the ground in attacks on airfields by other fighter-bombers, and 11 enemy aircraft were shot down.

Correspondent Found Hitler's Office Ablaze

By HENRY SHAPIRO

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

MOSCOW, May 4—(BUP)—A Russian war correspondent reported today that after the capture of Berlin he found the chancellery—where the Nazis said Adolf Hitler died—engulfed in flames which drove him from Hitler's office after a quick survey.

(If the correspondent's reported visit to the chancellery shed any light on Hitler's fate, the Soviet censorship apparently was not ready to pass it since Moscow has issued no official report on what was found at the chancellery—if anything—that would bear on the German version of Hitler's death).

Lt.-Col. Pavel Troyanovsky, in a dispatch to the Soviet Army organ Red Star, described the fire-hastened visit to the chancellery soon after the last resistance in Berlin ended.

WINDOWS CLOGGED

Troyanovsky said the windows of the burning chancellery were clogged with thick books used by the Nazis to throw up barricades in the last hours of resistance. Dead German gunners were everywhere, their breasts decorated with iron crosses damaged in battle, he said.

"We approached the main entrance of the chancellery, the dispatch said. "Its doors were barred by large boxes.

"Our soldiers could penetrate only through a narrow passageway between red boxes filled with crosses and oak leaves.

"Hitler's office was very hot. The flames were seeping nearer to us. The floors were shaking and about to collapse. We don gas masks and run to a window, the heat penetrating the thick soles of our boots. Nothing is visible through the smoke and heat."

ENTRY IMPOSSIBLE

Troyanovsky said an old man found sitting on a suitcase in the street conducted his party to Hermann Goering's air ministry, which also was burning so briskly that entry was impossible.

"Such is Berlin immediately after the occupation—all in smoke and flames and ruins," he wrote.

Three-Fifths Yanks In Europe Are Idle

By ROBERT EUNSON

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Paris, May 4.—(AP)—Except for policing duty and general occupation tasks since the American-Russian linkups and the German surrender in Italy, more than three-fifths of the American combat troops in Europe are now idle.

Troops of Gen. Courtney Hodges' First Army, Lt.-Gen. Lucian Truscott's Fifth Army and Lt.-Gen. William Simpson's Ninth Army are cleaning their rifles and tuning up their tanks, while forces of Gen. George S. Patton's Third and Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's Seventh Armies bore on through the Nazi southern redoubt and into Czechoslovakia.

Since American divisions are never permanently assigned to any one army it is likely that some combat units will be shifted to more active sectors.

But for the most part, almost 50 American divisions are, in army parlance, "sweating it out," waiting to see who's going to handle the occupation, who's going to the Pacific to fight the Japs and who's going home.

Break-through General, Von Kleist Surrenders

By EDWARD D. BALL

WITH THE 26th INFANTRY DIVISION, May 4.—(AP)—Field Marshal Ewald Von Kleist, who engineered the 1940 break-through in France, has surrendered, it was announced today.

Von Kleist, commander of the Wehrmacht's "A" army group, was taken prisoner April 25, but announcement of his surrender was delayed.

VON KLEIST

Asked his views on the fate of Hitler, he replied:

"I know only what I read in the newspapers."

Von Kleist's wife was at his side when he surrendered. Also with him was his aide, Capt. Von Seydlitz.

Von Kleist handed over his baton and surrendered, in order that "I might be spared the embarrassment of being captured later in the presence of common retreating German soldiers."

The 63-year-old marshal gave up to 3rd Army men who had reached Mitterfels, where he occupied a small dwelling.

Von Kleist, who said he had left the eastern front eight days ago before the advancing Russians, was the planner and leader of the invasion of Poland in 1939, and commanded the troops which pierced the Maginot Line and permitted the Nazis to overrun France in 1940.

The marshal was found by a couple of privates with his 25 handbags already packed. At first he refused to surrender. A gun pointed at his head changed his mind.

While he was talking to the Americans, Von Kleist sent his wife into the kitchen to brew some tea. She returned with the news that there was no water, and anyway, she continued, there had been no tea in the house for days.

U.S. Proposes Amendments To Dumbarton Oaks Plan

By C. R. BLACKBURN

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4.—(CP)—Proposed amendments to the Dumbarton Oaks world organization proposals, announced yesterday as acceptable to the United States delegation to the United Nations Security Conference, went a long way toward meeting the desires of smaller countries, but didn't answer the stand of Canada and other middle powers for greater recognition of their importance as peace-keeping agencies.

Cmdr. Harold E. Stassen of the American delegation outlined at a press conference the general terms of nine amendments being considered by the Big Four—Britain, the United States, Russia and China—and which his delegation would accept.

Canada is expected to approve these proposals but is particularly interested, along with other middle powers, in the specific provision of safeguards against a country being forced to use its resuroces in a war to put down aggression without having a voice in the decision to apply such enforcement.

This was not covered in the amendments announced as acceptable to the United States and presumably to others of the Big Four, but it is covered in amendments already submitted to the secretariat by New Zealand and Australia.

POWER OF COUNCIL

The security council of the proposed organization consisting of the four big powers and France as permanent members and six other countries, will have all the power to make decisions on peace enforcement which might involve the organization going to war against an aggressor.

Canada agrees to a great extent with Australia, which believes the 11-man security council should be composed of countries with the greatest potential power to put down aggression, but might be satisfied with the New Zealaand proposal that decisions to make war against aggression be the prerogative of the general assembly rather than of the smaller security council.

The imminence of the end of fighting in Europe and political problems which will follow immediately thereafter are expected to draw many of the top delegates away from San Francisco within a week, leaving the main burden to be carried on by international diplomatic experts who do most of the work in any event.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS

The United States proposed amendments to the Dumbarton Oaks agreement on a world organization are:

1. An international organization functioning "in keeping with the principles of justice."

2. Clarification of the Dumbarton Oaks blueprint, worked out last fall by the four sponsoring countries as the agenda for this conference, to say that the world organization shall function within international law and assist in perfecting it.

3. The development and safeguarding of human rights.

4. Provision for peaceful change of world conditions.

5. A definite system of trusteeships for weak or strategic territories.

6. A system to facilitate amendment of the charter to meet post-war conditions.

7. A modernized world court.

ATLANTIC CHARTER AIMS

8. Incorporation into the charter of specific provisions of the Atlantic Charter including assurances of freedom from want and fear, freedom of speech and worship.

9. A declaration of cultural objectives similar to those already proposed by China.

Won't be Human "Cure All"

No "Miracles" Likely to Come From United Nations' Meeting

By JAMES MARLOW

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4.—(AP)—Don't expect miracles to come out of the United Nations conference. The delegates of the 46 nations here are working to create an international organization or league. It won't be a cure-all for human problems. The primary purpose of the league would be to:

1. Prevent future wars.

2. Enable the nations to work together on many problems, such as trading goods—a banana for an apple, for example.

3. Settle international disputes peacefully through a world court or joint action of the league members.

As the years pass the league may try to widen its activities so that the simple problem of living may be made easier.

For instance: An international health organization could help undernourished peoples develop better foods or make better use of those they have.

WORK ON RULES

Right now the delegates are working on the rules and regulations which would guide the league.

And they will draw up a preamble or foreword to place at the top of the league charter.

Such a preamble would be an expression of what the league members say they believe. They'd all sign it. So they'd be on record as saying they believed in it.

That preamble may contain phrases, like theme:

"This leeague believes in safeguarding human rights." It believes in freedom of the press, freedom of worship, justice for all."

All that sounds fine. But not every nation is apt to live up to that preamble.

For example: Suppose that 10 years from now some nation begins a persecution of a minority group.

Would the league step in and say to that nation: "Cut it out. Give back to those people the money and property and jobs you took away from them?"

NOT VERY LIKELY

That isn't likely.

It's possible that a nation which was outrageous in its treatment of minority groups might be tossed out of the league.

That would have some effect in keeping nations a little decent. But maybe it wouldn't.

These are questions confronting delegates from 46 nations.

Teacher "Freezing" Ends in September

OTTAWA, May 4.—(CP)—The Selective Service "freezing" restriction which prevented teachers from leaving their profession except under special permit will be rescinded in September, Labor Minister Mitchell announced last night.

Mr. Mitchell said the restriction was being rescinded on recommendation of the National Selective Service advisory board and after consultation with provincial governments. This was in line with the federal government's policy of discontinuing wartime restrictions "just as soon as their purpose has disappeared."

"It is anticipated that by September next—the beginning of the new school year—the shortage of teachers will have eased materially, so that wartime regulation will no longer be necessary," said the minister.

The "freezing" order went into effect several years ago when a shortage of teachers developed.

Better Than Half-Way

Half-time found the 8th Victory Loan subscriptions throughout the Dominion half-way or better than half-way to the goal, with Alberta subscriptions in line with the national total, but Edmonton lagging. Perhaps sensing this situation, buyers in the city stepped out on Wednesday and put Edmonton sales also above the 50 per cent mark.

The good news from Europe does not appear to have affected sales, unless it stimulated them. Not many people seem to have fallen into the delusion that war spending will drop the moment "cease fire" sounds on the Reich fronts. This understanding that the outlay will go on at undiminished level, and can be only gradually cut down, is highly creditable to Canadian readers.

Understanding this, they will undoubtedly go on buying the bonds when the good word they are waiting for comes through. The "boys" over there will still have to eat after they stop fighting, and still have to be brought home and re-established in civilian life. And inflation must still be fought.

—V—

When V-Day Comes

Of course Canadians will be glad when it is officially announced that the war in Europe is ended—because they are now confident that it will end right. But neither can they forget the heavy price that has been paid for victory.

In every community across the Dominion there are homes to which V-Day will bring a rekindling of the sense of loss, as well as relief in knowing that there will be no more casualty lists to scan with anxious eyes. Neighbors and friends share the feelings of these stricken families in the wholesome Canadian way.

To the nation V-Day will be the signal for a general and genuine thanksgiving, but it cannot in these circumstances be a day of unrestrained joy-making. In every mind there will be, and there should be, a sobering memory of the sacrifices which alone have made victory possible.

Tentative plans announced at Ottawa are that the Sunday following V-Day be marked by special services of thanksgiving in the churches, and that a general holiday be proclaimed on which the public may give expression to the feelings of relief and satisfaction with which the end of the struggle in one theatre will be welcomed. Both proposals are eminently fitting to the occasion.

—V—

An Unlovely Pair

Grand Admiral Doenitz, or whoever used his name, went on the Hamburg radio just after the announcement that Hitler had died a hero's death—which he didn't—to call on the German army to keep fighting on all fronts. The army responded by starting to surrender in sections all around the map.

Now Doenitz is supposed to be making up a cabinet which he wants the Allies to think reliable, as the first step toward unconditional surrender of the Reich. But in the same despatches he is said to be working hand-in-hand with Heinrich Himmler, after dismissing all the Nazi ministers.

Not too much in the way of consistency can be expected from the man who inherited the mess that Hitler made of Germany. But boxing the compass in three days—from last ditch resistance to making a peace cabinet with the assistance of Himmler—savors of something more than inconsistency.

Doenitz as the master of ceremonies in a surrender offer would impress nobody, and Doenitz with Himmler as his side-kick would make any proposition look suspicious. The Allies can't be over particular as to who they deal with in the circumstances, but they might properly tell the boss pirate and the boss gun-man to send along a delegation of respectable and representative Germans if they want their proposals to be taken as trustworthy.

—V—

We Must Agree to Differ

Mr. Clement Attlee, Britain's deputy prime minister, made an observation at San Francisco which is both timely and important in the highest degree. He said "I suppose all the delegates coming to this conference know that none of us shall get exactly what we want. We come to discuss, to work out, to get agreement—the best possible agreement."

If a few hundred delegates must expect that none will get exactly the plan he wants, what chance that any plan could be framed which would coincide with all the political ideas and dreams of the hundreds of millions of people they represent?

The conference was not called to build the "perfect" plan, but a workable one. In the conference, and in the multitudes represented there, are liberals, conservatives, socialists, communists; people of all races, colors, antecedents and religions, learned and unlearned, progressive and unprogressive. They have only one thing in common. They want to prevent one nation flying at another's throat.

Obviously, to reach agreement on the means to accomplish that one object cannot be easy. It would be impossible if each group stood out for its own particular plan.

This willingness to accept the possible, and not demand what any person or party might prefer, should be the attitude and spirit of the peoples of the conferring nations when their respective parliaments come to the point of whether to accept or reject whatever plan the conference may propose.

Otherwise a breakdown of the whole security effort will be not only possible but gravely probable. And if this effort should break down, World War III will be a question only of time and circumstances.

The sirens in London are being dismantled, and women and children evacuees are told they may return to the city—if they can find houses to live in. With lights blazing through unblackened windows Londoners are getting a thrill these days which Canadians can't even estimate, let alone appreciate.

Laval, refused a refuge in Switzerland, flew to Barcelona, only to be told by Franco to move on. For that "most unkindest cut of all" no thanks are coming to Franco, and Laval can feel no surprise. In these parlous times Francesco can't afford to recognize his friends of other days, much less to house them. Any more shady manoeuvres on his part and he will likely have to take wing himself. So Pierre, refusing to leave the country, waits in a Spanish jail until Franco finds out whether France or the Allies have prior claim to him. The decision makes little difference to Laval, for in any case he is only resting on the way to a gibbet.

Lion's Tail Twisters Given Surprise by East Indians

Anti - British Press Not Pleased With Attitude of Delegates

By HAROLD L. WEIR

No single factor in the international situation has been employed so vigorously by certain factions to discredit Britain in the United States as Britain's relations with India.

Harold L. Weir

Professional twisters of the lion's tail, such as the egregious Bertie McCormick of Chicago and the ancient lecherous William Randolph Hearst, blackguarded Britain up hill and down dale on the count that the British were playing the tyrant in India and callously withholding liberty from a bedevilled people.

Even those American groups which look with a more kindly eye upon the British Empire have chosen to single out the Indian situation for their grave disapproval.

"How can Britain stand for freedom in Europe", they have asked, "when Britain persists in refusing freedom to the people of India?"

What has just happened in San Francisco is doubly interesting because of these latter facts. Here is what occurred:

The delegates from India held a press conference on Wednesday, and, because they thought it offered a prime opportunity to give the British lion's caudal appendage an extra convolution, the Hearst and McCormick cohorts were present in full force.

Present, too, was a choice collection of anglophobes who thought the occasion suitable for an exposure of Britain's infamy.

Fiery questions were hurled at the Indian delegates, provocative questions, queries that were calculated to inflame India's well known hatred of Britain.

To the intense surprise of the Hearstians and the anglophobes, the fireworks failed to come off. The Indian delegates replied mildly that India had not the slightest desire to cut herself adrift from Britain, that she wanted independence, yes, but independence within the British Empire.

They further stated, with emphasis, that Gandhi was a poseur and a reactionary, that "Gandhi talked only to God and God alone knew what he was talking about" and that what India really wanted was a status within the Empire something similar to that of Canada.

The press conference broke up in confusion.

Now all this is important because it is one of the absurd things upon which international relationships are determined.

It is no good saying, although it is quite true, that Britain's dealings with India are a purely domestic matter and do not concern Americans at all.

It is no good saying, although it is true, that Britain derives neither profit nor glory nor comfort from control of India.

It is no good saying that Americans have just about as much right to criticise Britain's relationship with India as Britain has to criticise Washington's relationship with Richmond at the time of the civil war.

These academic charges and denials are of no value whatever because they do not touch the fact that the virtuous raptures of libertarian zealots are seldom amenable to either reason or logic.

But these same raptures must have been cooled off considerably by the attitude of the Indian delegates on Wednesday. For, after all, even the liberty-mongering of erstwhile isolationists must be slightly appalled at the task of forcing what they conceive to be liberty down the throats of a people who do not want it.

All this, as I say, is important because it is one of these things which color very largely the views of Americans at a moment when Anglo-American friendship and understanding are vital to world security.

But it is important from another standpoint. There is quite definitely implicit in this situation a rebuke to those all over the North American continent, Canada included, who cherish a passionate desire to foist their own definitions of freedom and their own political philosophies on all the peoples of the world.

There is for instance, a considerable faction of idealists who are hell-bent on slapping all Europe into a ready made off-the-shelf suit of democracy. They have the notion that democracy is something like a topcoat that can be slipped on anybody and made to fit with a few pins and extra buttons. And they firmly believe that if the countries of Europe can be roughly fitted with a hand-me-down garment of this sort, all will be sweetness and light forever after.

Perhaps this present experience in trying to formulate India's concept of liberty for her will slow them down a little.

As this press conference in San Francisco has shown, no one knows what the Indians want and need but the Indians themselves and those British who deal directly with them.

And this discovery should point the way to the larger discovery that no country can be fitted with a standard garment cut from the cloth of idealism.

Political philosophy is always a native growth. A constitution is never an importation but something that is written in the fundamental hopes and desires of a people themselves.

Until a nation is ready for democracy, democracy is more painful and irksome than an ill-fitting shoe. For it is not the privileges of democracy that are important, but the responsibilities of it.

Perhaps a little less of this potential political tailoring will add to the good will of the world.

SIDE GLANCES—"You'd think after Bill spent two years in the fighting line he'd be bolder, but he's shyer than he was when he went away!"

Aftermath of a Frisco Quarrel

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

SAN FRANCISCO.—Twenty-four hours after the open breach between Russia and the United States in the United Nations conference it is possible to see some of the consequences of this unhappy development.

First, the conference is going right ahead with its work as if nothing disagreeable had happened. There is no reason to believe that it will not achieve agreement on the structure of a new world organization before it adjourns. The Big Five nations met in the apartments of Mr. Steeinius Monday night following the afternoon's upheaval, and their conversations were businesslike, cordial and highly satisfactory to the American delegation. Mr. Molotov may leave the conference in a few days, but this will not be regarded by the Americans as a sign of his displeasure since they hardly expected him to stay this long in view of the European war situation. That, however, will not be the interpretation placed upon Mr. Molotov's departure, if it occurs, by all the other nations here.

Second, the vote against Russia on the admission of the Argentine will complicate the problem of building the new league. This decision unquestionably will strengthen Russia's determination to maintain its unilateral veto over the work of the league in general. The main business of this conference is to modify the veto as laid down at Dumbarton Oaks. That business will be far more difficult than it would have been if the Monday breach had not occurred.

Third, a clear-cut bloc of power has emerged at this conference: the United States backed by all the Latin-American nations in a unity of hemispheric aims and policies never achieved before, and this may encourage the development of blocs elsewhere.

In the light of these developments the position of the main powers in this conference may be authoritatively outlined as follows:

The United States feels that the democratic procedure of arguing issues, putting them to a vote and accepting the result has been firmly established. While the American delegates are not happy about the government of Argentina which they supported on Monday, they feel that they must consider the whole picture of the conference and put above everything the final results. The conference's success, they believe, must not be judged by any isolated situation, however disagreeable, but only on its ability to found a system of collective security. They were mainly activated in the Argentine issue by a binding commitment made to Latin-America at the Mexico City conference and by their determination to build a united western hemisphere both for the security of the United States and the stability of the post-war world.

The position of the British Commonwealth is more complicated. In Monday's vote the Commonwealth nations split and publicly destroyed whatever remains of the single voice theory. Britain supported the United States position and is well satisfied with the outcome. New Zealand voted with Russia to postpone consideration of the Argentine issue. Australia voted with the majority, but announced officially afterwards that it had done so with misgivings. South Africa and India abstained from voting. Canada supported the majority, but its delegation was definitely divided. Mr. Coldwell definitely opposed admission of the Argentine to the conference.

The Russians, though it may appear strange on the surface, are partially satisfied with the results of the first major argument of the conference. They are believed to feel that they won everything but the actual ballot. Their main concern was not actually with Argentina, a side isssue, but with their own position in Europe. By appealing for the admission of the present Polish government to the conference, they have strengthened their hands in Poland among a people historically suspicious of them. Russia emerges as the champion of Poland before the world. At the same time the Russians have strengthened their position in the whole Russian sphere of influence in eastern Europe.

To understand these developments it is necessary to examine carefully the actual votes taken in the conference, which was impossible at the time they were taken since abstainers could not be identified in the packed auditorium. The vital test came on the motion of Russia to postpone consideration of the Argentine's admission. Here twenty-eight nations voted for admission and seven against. If the solid Latin-American bloc of nineteen nations is subtracted from the majority it is clear that in the rest of the world Russia was defeated by a vote of only nine to seven, with the Philippines counted among the nine.

The European nations did not vote against Russia, but abstained from voting. None of them was ready to cast a vote antagonistic to the greatest power on their continent. This was one of Russia's reasons for private satisfaction. When the whole vote is analyzed and the abstainers counted, it is eveident that the conference, despite superficial appearances, does not represent a real coalescence of the western world against Russia. The misfortune is that there should have been any public appearance of such a coalition and the added misfortune that such an appearance should have developed out of a very questionable issue, the admission of an Argentine government admittedly Fascist.

If Russia is satisfied that it has placed itself in an unassailable moral position and a good strategic position for the rest of the conference also, there appears to be widespread satisfaction among some other nations over the firm stand taken against Russia. These nations feel that Russia has been shown plainly that it cannot expect to dominate the conference if it had anything of the sort in mind, and that this will be a healthy factor in subsequent discussion of the new league charter. They admit, however, that no worse test than the admission of Argentina could have been chosen, and they know as well that Russia will be on much firmer ground than before in resisting the dilution of its veto in the league. However, it is believed that, while maintaining the veto principle, Russia is prepared to accept modifications in other parts of Dumbarton Oaks and this should become clear before the week is out.

By J. H. GRAY

OTTAWA—The McDougall Commission on Co-operatives, Wednesday, will reach the end of a trail that began in Vancouver last January, meandered down to the Atlantic coast, and came back to Ottawa last week. During that time it has received 175 briefs and 7,000 pages of testimony all touching on the question of whether it is, or is not, in the public interest to tax co-operatives; and if so, how.

Tuesday's session was given over to the private elevator company case. The North-West Line Elevators association brief ran to 46 pages and a dozen pages of appendix, plus a treatise on the economic aspects of co-operation by Prof. J. L. McDougall of Queen's University. Prof. McDougall's statement will go in today. On Tuesday Mr. Lamont of Winnipeg spent most of the day in the box.

His brief might well be described as the extreme case against the co-operatives. It did not lend itself to easy summary, but his main points were roughly these:

The three western Wheat Pools, the main targets of the brief, operated precisely as line elevator companies do. They bought and paid for farmers' grain with cash tickets at country elevators, shipped it to Fort William, handled it and stored it and sold for export. They hedged their purchases on the Winnipeg grain exchange. Since the abandonment of the compulsory pool, they were not under obligation to return to the producers the net returns, on the basis of quantity and quality, of the sale of grain. They were legal entities in themselves as distinct from mere agents of their owners, their members, because they bought and sold grain for their own account.

Their day-to-day operations, according to the brief, were indistinguishable from those of ordinary line elevator companies. Both went through the same motions, did the same things with wheat delivered to them. All this being so, the brief argued, these co-operatives were liable for assessment of income tax and excess profit taxes. These taxes should be assessed back to the year 1930, because, Mr. Lamont said some of the private companies had been assessed back to 1933.

Mr. Lamont contended that, as there was no discernible difference between the line elevator companies and the Pools, equity demanded that the income tax authorities put them on the same footing. If the Pools were allowed to go on not paying income tax it would drive all the private elevators out of business. He insisted that patronage dividends should not be an allowable expense of doing business under the act, and the Pools should be made to pay income and excess profits tax on these dividends.

Mr. Lamont admitted, under questioning, that the private companies had not suffered to date because of competition from tax-free co-operatives. What concerned them was the future. These were abnormal times and if, when we got back to normal, the Pools were allowed to pay patronage dividends, the private companies, to stay in business, would have to do likewise. If they were forced, to compete, to pay patronage dividends then there would be nothing left for their shareholders, nothing left for reserves, and eventually the private line elevators would be driven out of business.

The brief pointed out that, during the years from 1930 to 1934, inclusive, the private line elevators had paid more than $14,000,000 in income and excess profits taxes. If, during that period, the Pools had been assessed for the same taxes, they would have been liable for some $24,600,00. The implication was that Mr. Ilsley was some $24,600,000 poorer because of the tax exemption of co-operatives.

On this point the line elevators' case struck mud. Mr. Thompson, the auditor who had made the calculations for the line elevators, took the stand to explain them. Under examination by Mr. Porter of Calgary, Mr. Milliken of Regina, and Mr. Scarth of Winnipeg, counsel for the various wheat pools, his figures were kicked full of holes.

Mr. Thompson had taken actual figures for the grain trade, but when he came to the Pools he based his calculations on a standard profits period before the war. It turned out, however, that because of the abnormal crop conditions of those years the private companies had obtained concessions from the board of income tax referees. No allowance had been made for these abnormalities in estimating the Pool tax bill, and it was rather obvious that the commission was not impressed by what would otherwise have been some rather impressive statistics.

The brief, nevertheless, did point up the difficulties under which the tax-paying competitors of the Pools do labor. Aside altogether from the question of equity, the privately owned concerns obviously feel that if they are to be taxed so heavily in the interests of national survival, the Pools are not carrying their share of this particular load. This is a point that is hard to get around and it is a point which the Pools have not attempted to meet.

With the formal sessions complete, the commission must go over almost a million words of testimony in an effort to find an answer for one of the most difficult problems handed to a five-man tribunal. There is no easy solution, no pat solution, to this thorny problem, and if this commission can come up with a compromise of any kind which is even half a solution it will have performed a useful public function. With its public hearings all behind, its hardest job still lies ahead.

Stalin Came From a Small Town

By Howard Vincent O'Brien in the Chicago News

In all their travels, Gulliver and Marco Polo never lit on a land so strange as this! Never in all history were there people so fearfully and wonderfully made as are we Americans.

Everybody, these days, is running round, trying to find out what manner of man is Harry Truman. Yet only 160 days ago we blithely and uncritically put him in an office from which the odds were far better than even that he would rise to world importance.

Some day, perhaps, we shall learn to elect our vice-presidents with at least as much prudence as we study the actuarial probabilities of an insurance policy.

Now that we are drying out from the fountain of maudlin pathos which gushed over the air waves, we can look a little more rationally at what happened.

It seemed to me that the mournful hysteria of the last week was a symptom of the perilous morass into which we had descended. What rose to the weeping skies was a wall of honest fear. We had become like children, soft in mind and body, helplessly dependent on a Leader.

For several anguished days we stood terrified by the future. We had created for ourselves a figure of omniscience; and when it proved all too human, we felt abandoned to an unfathomable fate.

Now we have to go it alone. No longer can we depend on all wisdom coming from the White House. We have to see what we can do with a mere mortal—an unsuccessful haberdasher, a guy from the banks of the Missouri, a rural jurist who once yielded fealty to one of the least spotless of our political machines.

There is pathos in the current effort to picture our new President as something more than we are afraid he may be. And some of this frantic optimism is really comic.

Commentators agree that on domestic issues he may display a homely vigor in keeping with the experience of a rustic office-holder. They are pleased with his evident intention to restore harmony between the legislative and the executive branches of our government. It is only when they contemplate his prospects in the field of foreign affairs that they become doleful and ridiculous.

As my friend Squidge said to me this morning—how can poor Truman prove a match for such a man as Stalin? Truman has had no experience with diplomacy and is unfamiliar with other lands.

Well, Stalin was a small-town boy himself, and, except for Teheran, has never strayed out of Russia. And the fact that Stalin suddenly changed his mind and decided to send Molotov to San Francisco might indicate that Stalin was at least as much worried about how he was going to get along with Truman as Truman (presumably) is worried about getting along with Stalin.

Squidge was also troubled because Truman is a "politician". I wonder what he thinks Churchill is—or Stalin. As a matter of fact, Truman's political experience is one of the most heartening things about him. To quote Bismarck once more, "Politics is the art of the possible"; and the task that faces Truman is to achieve a reasonable balance between what we want and what we are likely to get.

The best augury for his success is that he is by nature and training a compromiser. It seems to me reasonably certain that we are beginning an era of concession and adjustment—a time for which he is peculiarly fitted.

Food Laden Trucks Pass Into Holland

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY IN WESTERN HOLLAND, May 4.—(CP)—One hundred and twenty new Canadian-built trucks nosed out into no-man's-land yesterday carrying the first consignment of food for hungry Holland to Utrecht.

Netherlanders wept as the trucks pulled away from dumps established Wednesday between Canadian and German lines, wound past a narrow gap at a road block at the enemy end and disappeared around a bend.

A further 80 vehicles will be given, possibly today or Saturday, for increased distribution of food.

Prisoners Freed

LONDON, May 5—(CP)—The war office announced yesterday a reliable report had been received that prisoners of war in Stalag 11A at Algergrabow, 12 miles east of Magdeburg, were being evacuated by road to American lines. The camp is believed to contain 20,000 prisoners.

PRIVATE BUCK—"Ah, food! Buck sure learned how to train birds in that pigeon department, didn't he?"

Major Hun Cities In Allied Hands

By The Canadian Press

This week saw the fall in quick succession of the three greatest cities of stricken Germany.

Monday the American forces captured Munich, with a 1942 population of 829,000.

Wednesday the Russians captured Berlin, capital and nerve centre of the Reich with a normal population of 4,339,000.

Thursday the British 2nd Army captured Hamburg, second city and Germany's greatest port with a population of 1,712,000.

Of the greater cities of the Reich, only two still fly the Nazi swastika and both have lost their tactical importance. Dresden, population 630,000, was ruined by Allied obliteration air raids in February. Breslau, 630,000, has been encircled and heavily penetrated by the Russians since Feb. 16.

Of her larger ports, Germany now has but two intact, Kiel, population 274,000, which has been declared an open city, and Wilhelmshaven, population 114,000.

U.S. Takes Over Anthracite Mines

WASHINGTON, May 4.—(AP)—President Truman last night authorized Interior Secretary Ickes to seize the country's anthracite mines "as a result of existing or threatened strikes and other labor disturbances."

The idle mines, numbering 231, are located in Pennsylvania. Wage negotiations between the operators and the United Mine Workers remained deadlocked in New York as the President acted.

The hard coal miners' wage contract expired April 30 and John L. Lewis, U.M.W. president, has not acceded to a war labor board order for extension of the pact pending negotiation of a new agreement.

The secretary was directed to permit the mine managements to continue with their functions to the maximum degree possible.

Missionary Died In Japanese Camp

TORONTO, May 4—(CP)—Rev. Eric H. Liddell, 43, a missionary in the Far East since 1925, died at Weihsien Japanese Internment camp in North China on Feb. 21, his wife, Florence MacKenzie Liddell was informed Wednesday. Mr. Liddell, who won the 400 metre event as a representative of Great Britain at the Olympic games in Paris in 1942, had been a prisoner in the camp since outbreak of the Pacific war.

Britons Freed

LONDON, May 4—(Reuters)—A total of 3,657 officers of the British Navy, Army, Air Force and Merchant Service and 418 civilians were liberated when a number of prisoner of war camps were overrun at Westertimke in Germany, it was learned yesterday.

McCoy Health Service

Many of us in this country fail to appricate the wide variety of foods offered in the market and the bounteous supplies available. Recent reports from war torn Europe show that famine is evident and all food is rationed. When an Englishman goes into a cafe or restaurant to eat, he usually carries his own cubes of sugar with him, that is if he is fortunate enough to have any. Potatoes are 75 cents a pound and supplies are not available. Epicurean delicacies have disappeared from the grocery shelves and the English public have been forced on to a very restricted diet, whether they wanted it or not.

Public health reports show that dietary regulations have increased the health of the people and the incidence of disease has been reduced. In order to have a balanced diet, it is essential that liberal portions of the green fresh vegetables be used and these vegetables contain the mineral salts and vitamins which are necessary for maintaining bodily health, and they are an aid to intestinal elimination.

Fortunately when vegetables are out of season, we are able to buy them in cans, and the food value is not seriously affected in the canning process. In order to retain the flavor and the food values of these vegetables they should be cooked in heavy saucepans, using as little water as possible and after cooking, the water should be saved for soup stock, or with a little added seasoning it makes a very pleasant beverage.

The addition of bicarbonate of soda during the cooking process helps to retain the color of the vegetable but it destroys the vitamin content. Some of the vegetables which have been left over from dinner may be placed in the ice box and used the next day, a delightful cold salad can be made or they may be served at the breakfast meal.

More and more people are realizing that vegetables may be used at every meal and they are a pleasant addition to the breakfast meal.

Space being limited it is not possible to give my readers an entire list of vegetables which are good to use, but instead I shall name a few which are known to cause digestive upsets and which are especially likely to form gas. Cabbage, garlic, onions and dried beans, are the worst offenders and these should be avoided.

All questions regarding health and diet will be answered. Large stamped, self addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write on one side of paper only. Letters must not exceed 150 words. Address McCoy Health Service, The McCoy Building, 1151 West 6th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Canadian Export Wheat Is Behind High Mark Reached in 43-44 Year

Canadian export of wheat has fallen behind the large 1943-44 total, with the export of western grain in the crop year Aug. 1, 1944, to April 27, 1945, reaching 438,800,000 bushels, of which wheat accounts for 262,000,000 bushels, Hon. James A. MacKinnon, minister of trade and commerce, said Friday on his arrival in Edmonton from Ottawa.

Mr. MacKinnon said he expected to remain in Edmonton until after the election on June 11. He is Liberal candidate in the Edmonton West riding.

Mr. MacKinnon said that of the total grain shipped overseas, oats constituted 98,000,000 bushels; rye 5,000,000 bushels and flax nearly 7,000,000 bushels. Oats, barley and rye were leaving the country in increased volume, he said.

EARLY OPENING

With the early opening of navigation on the Great Lakes, a decided improvement in car loadings on the prairies and an expected improvement in ocean shipping tonnage, a huge movement of Canadian grain into consumption is underway, he said. Mr. MacKinnon declared that if shipping, storage and labor bottlenecks can be avoided along the way between the western farm and needy consumers overseas, grain stocks in Canada will be greatly reduced before the next harvest.

The minister declared that seeding this year had been considerably delayed in the west by unseasonable April weather. In the Eastern part of Manitoba, spring rains and snow had caused further difficulties for farmers unable to harvest their crops last fall due to unusually heavy precipitation. Early advices on farmers' intentions with regard to 1945 grain acreages showed a good balance between various grain crops, he sand. A considerable increase in barley acreage was expected in the Edmonton area.

Mr. MacKinnon stated that farmers who want to assure themselves of feed supplies of oats and barley for their livestock until the new crop is assured, may get permission to hold back 500 bushels of these grains until October 31. Application should be made to the Canadian Wheat Board, Winnipeg.

The minister said that this provision should prove helpful to this section of Alberta where livestock is so important and harvest later than elsewhere.

Before the Magistrate

Moses Ward, RCMP charged before Magistrate L. R. Jackson Friday morning, took a bicycle from the owner's residence, without permission. Pleading guilty to theft, he contradicted the crown prosecutor, who said there was no record. "Sure," said Moses, "I've been here before." The penalty was $10 or 10 days.

William Kruger, found guilty of assaulting his wife, was ordered to pay a fine of $20 or 30 days.

Vincent J. McCasey, pleading guilty to unlawfully wearing service colors and wound stripes, was fined $50 or two months.

Robert McGrath and Fernand Beaudry, both of Edmonton, each charged with five counts of shopbreaking and a further one each of shopbreaking and theft, had their cases adjourned to May 11. A third person, found to be a juvenile, had his case transferred to the juvenile court. There were six charges against him, also.

The charges arose over the alleged entry into offices of the Industrial Acceptance Corp., and theft from the premises of $977.63 in cash and two $50 Victory Bonds. Other allegedly entered premises were those of the Marvel Beauty Salon, Dunlop Tire Co., Chisholm Sawmills- Cummings Agencies and Sinclair Lumber Co.

Bail for the two men was set at $3,000. Neil D. MacLean, KC, is defence counsel.

Waner Handed Unconditional Release By NY

NEW YORK, May 4.—(AP)—Paul (Big Poison) Waner was handed his unconditional release Thursday by New York Yankees on the eve of their first long trip of the 1945 season.

Waner joined the Yanks last fall after drawing the pink slip from Brooklyn where he had batted .287 in 83 games. Appearing in nine games as a pinch-hitter for Joe McCarthy's men, the 42-year-old veteran collected only one hit in seven at bats. He walked his only time up in the '45 campaign.

The elder brother of the famous brother team that played the outfield for Pittsburgh in the 1927-40 era, broke in with San Francisco in the Pacific Coast League in 1923 and spent two years there before coming to the Pirates, a year ahead of brother Lloyd.

During his 20-year big league career, Waner collected 3,152 hits, scored 100 or more runs in nine seasons, set a modern record by getting 200 or more hits in a season for the eighth time in 1937, made six hits in six successive at bats in 1926 and led the league in batting in 1927, 1934 and 1936.

Yanks Drive on Okinawa Capital

By FRANK TREMAINE
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

GUAM, May 4—(BUP)—American marines fought through strong Japanese defences on the west coast of Okinawa today to within a mile from Naha, capital of the island.

A sizeable force of Superfortresses raided southern Kyushu and Shikoku, Japanese home islands, again today in an attempt to neutralize bases for Japanese suicide planes which sank two more American light fleet units in the Okinawa area last night.

Four marine units, thrown into the southern Okinawa battle only several days ago, led a new offensive against an estimated 30,000 Japanese entrenched in strong defences before Naha.

A front dispatch said the marines, pushing down the rugged west coast sector, were nearing the Asa river, last natural barrier before Naha and only a little more than a half mile from the city.

WITH the big majority of last year's club still available, the Yanks once more loom as a serious threat, as they prep for the opening of the Edmonton senior baseball season and the defence of both city and Alberta titles. The team will work out at Renfrew Park again today, with Sgt. Wayne Adams in charge.

Thirteen of the 1944 roster have answered the current call and the Yanks can field a '44 nine intact and still have two pitchers and an outfielder in addition to the coach himself.

Of last year's pitching staff, big Wilbur Ray, Walter Nelson and Johnny Gray have been turning out. Catcher Ivan Crumly, first-baseman Pete Myers, second-sacker Ralph Schumacher, shortstop John Calvin and third baseman Columbus Burchfield are all here and so is the snappy '44 outfield of Manuel Dorsky, Gino Valenti and Doug Roush. Bill Dunn, utility outfielder, is on the job too.

So far at least, the chief absentees are pitchers Forrest Hunter and Al Walker, catcher Al Goodrich, infielder Marlowe Robertson and outfielder Al Loconto. Bill Myers, who played a few games at first, Joe Haligowski, Bill Treadwell and Earl Young also are missing.

BALDWIN BACK WITH YANKS

FRANK HACKNEY, new second baseman, stands out amongst the new talent Yanks have on display. He'll be hard to keep out of the lineup and could prove the sensation of the league. He's had six seasons' pro experience and is tied to Chicago White Sox chain.

Capt. Harry Baldwin, who played third for the champion Yanks of '43, is back with his former team-mates. He was with Dodgers as pitcher or third baseman last season and will likely be used as a chucker. Baldwin totes quite a hefty bat, hitting .362 in '43 and .286 last season when he played in only 18 games.

Jack Taylor, a pitcher upon whom Newark has strings, Joe Pohrer, another chucker, and Roach and Miller, both catchers, are amongst the newcomers trying for places with the Yanks.

Manuel Dorsky, left fielder, was top batter for the Yanks last season with an average of .301, John Galvin being next with .298. Doug Roush hit .277, but was coming with a rush near the close of the schedule and was really hot during the playoffs. Adams, Baldwin, Dorsky, Valenti, Gray and Dunn are starting their third season with the Yanks.

HERE AND THERE . . .

IF junior baseball in Edmonton doesn't get a new home which it can really call its own, it won't be the fault of the Edmonton Recreation Commission, who gave an official okay to the Clarke Stadium proposal last night.

Dodgers had another workout at Renfrew yesterday and Arrows plan to take over tonight following the Yanks who usually vacate early.

Lorne Harney and Bill Gadsby were doing the catching for Dodgers last night. Harry Thompson is a new pitching recruit, others so far being Walter Johnson, Ralph Morgan and Tommy Brant. Bourasso, Williams, Stevenson, Mair (a third-baseman) and Fred Spence were on the infield list yesterday.

Ab Superstein, George Green and Dave Brockie were shagging flies. Spence is a promising young hockey player. He centred the first Calgary Royal string against Canadians in the recent Alberta junior playoffs here.

Ball Players Wear Glasses Without Loss of Efficiency

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

NEW YORK, May 4—(BUP)—It used to be when a baseball player got so he had to wear glasses, he was through with active participation on the diamond. However, in this fourth wartime season there are numerous players in the majors and minors who wear cheaters on the diamond with no apparent loss of efficiency.

At least two major leaguers, who starred in their departments, helped to abate somewhat the prejudices of managers toward bespectacled players.

Pitcher Lee Meadows of the Pittsburgh Pirates is one of the first successful players to wear glasses. George "Specs" Torporcer—a slick fielding infielder with the St. Louis Cardinals—was practically blind with his focals in his pocket.

More pitchers have come to depend on specs than players in other positions, seemingly because a pitcher handles fewer fielding chance and therefore has less chance of being hit by a ball.

This season there are a number of them seem to be seriously handicapped. Charlie "Chuck" Shanz—Philadelphia Phillies' right handed pitcher—wears lenses on the mound and can think of only one really close call. A hit bounced straight back at him and the first thing he knew it had gone through his legs without his seeing it. But he's never been hit.

Schanz—who has lost two games this year and won none— complains that on hot days his glasses sometimes go up. But aside from that he says they're okay.

Detroit Tiger ace Paul "Dizzy" Trout is dependent on specs on and off the diamond. He used to wear the traditional type but has now switched to contact lenses. Trout has won three games this year against no defeats.

Bill Dietrich of the White Sox, Walter Beck of the Reds, Bill Lee of the Phils and Vince Ventura of Washington all wear glasses on the mound.

Manager Mel Ott of the New York Giants tried glasses when he hit a batting slump some years ago. But discarded them. Ott says they made him uncomfortable.

Ott's sentiments place him in the minority for most players who turned to spectacles were helped a good deal both at bat and in the field.

Arrows to Hold Practice Tonight

Arrows, both junior and senior, will hold a workout at Renfrew Park tonight commencing at 7 o'clock.

In addition to the team in the Senior Baseball League as in previous years, the Arrows also have an entry in the junior circuit. A two-hour drill was held at Diamond Park last night.

Easterners Retain Lead Throughout

VANCOUVER, May 4.—(CP)—The defending Canadian senior men's basketball champions, Hayes Steel Hell Cats from Merritton, Ont., last night eked out a slim 50-49 victory over Vancouver Lauries, western Canadian titleholders, in the first game of the best-of-five series.

Second game will be played here Saturday night.

Hell Cats went into a 13-11 lead in the first quarter and were ahead 28-24 at half time. They led 40-37 at the close of the third quarter and held off repeated efforts by Vancouver to overtake them in the final stanza.

Lauries, recent victors over Raymond, Alta., Union Jacks, were held in check most of the time by the more powerful Merritton guards.

Playing before more than 1,000 fans, the eastern champions held a slight lead throughout. Play was fairly clean although Merritton was tagged for 20 fouls compared to 14 against Vancouver.

Matt Mazza led the easterners with 17 points and Bill Anderson was best for Vancouver. Sandy Robertson, Lanky centre star for Vancouver and a big point-getter in previous play-off games, was held in check and accounted for only seven points.

Hell Cats were much the better ballhandlers and checked incessantly. They took advantage of any miscues by Lauries and were outscored in only one quarter, the third when Vancouver chalked up 13 points to 12 for Merritton.

Lauries came from behind a 7-2 deficit in the first quarter to end the session only two points down.

Two Top Horses In Mexico May Clash Saturday

BY FRED HAYDEN

NEW YORK, May 4.—(AP)—Gay Dalton is known as the Man O' War of Mexico City racing, but an up-and-coming three-year-old named Checkerhall threatens to steal that idol's thunder if he can continue his present pace.

According to reports from the Hipodromo De Las Americas, the two may compete in Saturday's handicap Puebla of a mile and a furlong. It is only a $4,000 added affair but should the five-year-old Gay Dalton, winner of his last eight starts at the Hipodromo, and Checkerhall clash, the race would be a natural. Gay Dalton has been assigned 132 pounds, Checkerhall 112. Famous Victory, beaten a length by Gay Dalton in the rich Handicap De Las Americas, and also a five-year-old, gets in at 118.

It has become pretty well established that none of the older horses can withstand the Whirlaway-like stretch rushes of Gay Dalton. But, if given the opportunity, the vastly improved Checkerhall might turn the trick, particularly at the weights.

Checkerhall also has an impressive winning streak. He finished second in his debut at the meeting, then won five in a row—by from five to 10 lengths, never extended. He was hailed as king of the Mexico City three-year-olds when he won the Derby Mexicano. His most recent win came in the Yucatan Handicap last Sunday, in which he tied Gay Dalton's mile and a sixteenth track mark of 1:43 2-5.

A victory over Gay Dalton would indicate just how much class the bay son of Hairan-Discern possesses and whether he might rate a chance in the Kentucky Derby, for which he may be pointed.

For Junior Baseball

City Recreation Commission Approves New Ball Park

Building of a baseball park at Clarke Stadium, which would cost approximately $800, for the exclusive use of junior baseball teams was approved last night by the City Recreation Commission at the regular meeting held in the Civic Block.

The plan will now be placed before the city commissioners and if approved, work will start immediately in order to have the diamond in shape for the opening game of the Edmonton Junior Baseball League on May 24, less than three weeks away.

The proposal, as placed before the recreation body by "Mickey" McGuire, city recreation commissioner, would include building of a cinder road and parking space north of the Stadium, cutting of gates in the fence, erection of bleachers and building of a diamond.

The proposed site is the fenced off field directly north of the Clarke Stadium football field. The bleachers that would be built, would seat 200 fans.

Roads would lead to the stadium off 92nd street at 110A avenue and off 111th avenue at 92nd street. One gate would be built at the north of the field and the other at the south to enable players to go from the dressing rooms in the Stadium stands to the diamond.

The diamond would face west with the bleachers on the east side of the field.

Building of a fastball park, near the present Kingsway Park, was another item also discussed. Officials of the Intermediate Fastball League suggested a field, with floodlights, be built west of Kingsway Park, but this was not approved by the recreation commission.

The meeting felt a diamond with a fence could be erected, but no arrangements were made. It was decided to have a meeting between fastball officials, recreation officials and the joint City Council—School Board committee to see what could be done.

W. C. Richards was in the chair for last night's meeting. Other members of the recreation commission were "Mickey" McGuire, Alderman H. D. Ainlay, Barney Stanley, J. C. Dunnigan, B. F. Robertson and Ursula Forbes.

Owners Hoping Racing To Return Full-Time Basis

NEW YORK, May 4—(AP)—Less affluent owners of small racing stables hope that when the sport finally returns it will be on the old full-time basis and not three days a week. To many, a part-time schedule might prove of little value.

Owners of big stables including stake horses probably would be affected little, but the less pecunious turfmen, who for months have been beset with various problems, would get few opportunities to win a purse, or part of one. Cheaper grade performers would be lucky to get a chance to run once every few weeks, with too many horses around for too few races. But the animals would have to be kept razor-sharp just the same.

A situation such as developed at Tropical Park, Florida, just before the Jan. 3 shutdown, might loom. The last nine days of that session, even with nine-race programs six days a week, saw so many horses trying to "get in" that a record number had to be excluded daily. Upward of 90 thoroughbreds were shut out in virtually every mediocre-type event carded. A three-day schedule, or even four, could have the same effect—supply exceeding the demand.

When it was announced at Mexico City early in March that there would be four days racing instead of three each week, horsemen there became more cheerful. Previously, many horses had remained inactive for weeks at a time.

Horsemen at Belmont Park recently discussing the possibility of part-time racing heard one trainer of a large string of platers remark he'd rather wait for racing whole-hog than get it back on a short-fare basis. The expense, time and work entailed in keeping a string in full training would be no less than in normal times, he said.

O'Connor "Special Assistant"

Office of Baseball Czar To Be Moved to Cincinnati

CHICAGO, May 4.—(AP)—A. B. (Happy) Chandler, who is undecided as to when he will shed his toga as Kentucky Senator and don the official robes of baseball commissioner, spent a busy day in Chicago yesterday—but all his business was about baseball.

The major item affecting the commisioner-elect's office was announcement by Mr. A. B. C. that business of the commissioner will be directed from two fronts—at least temporarily.

The commissioner's headquarters, in Chicago during the 24 years the late K. M. Landis held office, will be in Cincinnati, Chandler said. But Leslie M. O'Connor, Landis' secretary-treasurer, is his new "special assistant," and will be in charge of the Chicago office. Eventually, Chandler said, the Chicago office will be discontinued and all business directed from Cincinnati. The new secretary-treasurer of the baseball commissioner* is Walter Warring Mulbry, Chandler's senate secretary.

Chandler visited Landis' office yesterday after a press conference, posed for photographers on the "throne" of the white-thatched squire, who died last Nov. 25, and then conferred at length with O'Connor. That apparently was the start and finish of Chandler's "homecoming" to baseball headquarters.

He told newsmen he did not know when he would resign from the U.S. Senate—it may not be for some time—but in the meantime the commissioner's office would be established in Cincinnati with Mulbry in charge. The Kentucky senator said the uncertainty of world affairs might force him to delay signing his seven-year contract before June when it had been expected he would quit the senate.

O'Connor, who with presidents Will Harridge and Ford Frick of the American and National Leagues, will serve in an advisory capacity to the commissioner-elect, told reporters he intends to serve as Chandler's special assistant for one year.

"By that time, I think he'll have a good grasp of his job," declared the former right-hand of the late commissioner.

Chandler told reporters he would be glad to discuss the question of negro players in the big leagues "over the desk" with representatives of the race; will continue to attend the Kentucky Derby, but will not bet; and will go to bat for 4-F baseball players.

He left for Louisville last night.

CANADIAN SPORTSHOTS

By FRED KERNER

TORONTO, May 4.—(CP)—If Tom O'Brien—Winnipeg's "Mr. Lacrosse"—has his way, it won't be very long before that mid-western city will present Canada with some strong contenders for the Mann Cup.

Tom tries to tell people that the venerable Canadian game isn't as black as its painted and chances are he'll be as successful in that campaign as he was in his plan to bring the game out of the doldrums in Winnipeg. Last year he had four loops with 18 teams operating successfully.

O'Brien's latest campaign entails selling parents on the fact that lacrosse is not the toughest game in the world. He said that last year in over 100 games there was only one injury—and that was a sprained wrist.

Many were the queries for a number of years as to why the Laprade brothers — Edgar and Bert—never signed pro contracts with Montreal Canadiens. It seems that the mystery surrounding the Port Arthur players may never be cleaned up, but some days ago T. P. Gorman disclosed the fact that Edgar was offered the most money the Canadien club ever had dangled before an amateur player.

Gorman said the offer was $6,000 for three years and a $2,000 bonus to sign. Since Edgar was on Rangers' negotiation list, it would have cost the Montrealers another $6,000 for dickering rights. According to Edgar he will be interested in a pro offer after the war. Whether he'll be worth that much to the Canucks then, remains to be seen.

Baltimore Hopes Build Stadium To Seat 100,000

BALTIMORE, May 4.—(AP)—Construction of an enclosed, 100,000-capacity municipal stadium—the roof to be held up by air pressure—may be Baltimore's bid to crash the year-around athletic bigtime.

The idea—without estimate of cost—has been presented to city officials as the "final report" of a stadium committee appointed last year after the International League baseball park burned down and Baltimore Orioles moved into the present spacious but outmoded municipal stadium.

The committee reported the proposed stadium would have flexible seating arrangements suitable for everything from major league baseball and professional football to political meetings and grand opera.

The roof—designed by Glen L. Martin, aircraft builder, and Jan Porel, his assistant—would be made of thin metal and could be "pumped up" mechanically from its original construction position of 20 feet above the heads of spectators to its maximum height in about an hour and a half, yet would take a month to descend to low level even with windows and doors open. It would be periodically pumped up and then gradually sink until the next pumping job.

MERCANTILE 10 PINS

Final playoff in the Mercantile 10 Pin League took place last night between Edmonton Radiators, winners of the Monday section, and Woodland, winners of the Friday section. The Radiators won the first game, dropped the next two and tied up the best of five series by winning the fourth by eight pins, mainly through the neat game of 221 rolled by Art McAnoys. They then went on to win the fifth and final game by 11 pins.

John Andrichuk of Woodland was the most consistent bowler of the night with a total of 926 for his three games.

Canadian Juniors Practice Saturday

The Canadian junior baseball team will hold a stiff workout at Clarke Stadium Saturday at 2:30 p.m. Coach Lorne Harney will be in charge.

Competition for team positions has been very keen and Coach Harney in an attempt to give every hopeful a fair trial has refrained from cutting the squad to any great extent.

However, come the middle of next week the team should begin to take shape and judging from present indications should give a fine account of itself in league competition.

Germans Stripped Plant

Horses Run for Exercise At France's Famed Track

CHANTILLY, France, May 4.—(AP)—Racing is on at the tracks in and near Paris—and the betting is heavy—but on France's most famed track the ponies run for exercise only.

This birthplace of French racing, an hour's ride from Paris, was stripped by the Germans. The stands were torn down for fuel and the pari-mutual equipment was torn up for scrap metal.

During their occupation of France, the Germans insisted that racing continue to keep the Frenchmen's mind off his troubles and also to permit the Germans to get their hands on the seven-per cent wagering tax.

But now Chantilly harbors hundreds of American soldiers and the famed plant has been turned into a baseball diamond. A large sign proclaims it is "Ebbets Field" (after the home field of the Brooklyn Dodgers).

The track, however, remains and each morning it is taken over by trainers and their charges.

Two native Frenchman told of sitting through four years of German occupation.

"There were 1,800 horses in Chantilly when the Germans came," said Henry Count who is training the Widener string, "but now we have only 400 left."

Percy Carter, also a trainer, explained that the Germans decreed all horses in France which "were owned by foreigners or Jews on May 10, 1940" were to be appropriated by the invaders.

Nazis' Damage "Very Deep"

Political Rebirth of Germany To Take Years Says Cardinal

By JACK FLEISCHER

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

MUNICH, May 3.—(BUP)—About the only good German I've met since we invaded this country said today it will be a long time before Germany is reborn politically.

He is Venerable Cardinal Faulhaber, the 66-year-old Archbishop of Munich, who never knuckled to the Nazis even though the Gestapo had its headquarters next door to his palace.

Cardinal Faulhaber said he hoped "there soon will be a religious renaissance in Germany. But the political renaissance will take a long time."

Naziism has warped the Germans so thoroughly that it will take years to overcome its evil influences, he told another correspondent and me. The Cardinal, wearing his bright scarlet skull cap over thinning gray hair and dressed in a black robe, received us in his badly-bombed palace.

MAKES APOLOGIES

He apologized for receiving us in a simple upstairs room but explained that most of his palace was destroyed or too badly damaged and had been condemned by the police as unsafe.

"But we're lucky at that," he said. "This is the only building still inhabited in this street, or in the entire district, for that matter."

He seemed to accept the Allied bombings as part of modern war, and pointed out that the ministry of interior and police building had been next door and bombs aimed for that had hit his palace.

As long ago as 1935 the Nazis tried to clamp down on the cardinal, but they never dared violate him personally. For years he attacked them in sermons and pastoral letters, but he said he couldn't fight too openly for fear of reprisals against priests on his staff, if not against himself.

"VERY DEEP DAMAGE"

Faulhaber said the Nazis had inflicted "very deep damage" to Germans' moral fibre. He told how they developed an anti-Christian atmosphere, abolished religious instruction for children over 12, and scheduled their Hitler jugend meetings on Sunday mornings to conflict with religious services.

"Thus the Nazis got hold of German youth in their most formative years and the damage is very deep. But we must begin again to rebuild religion, and first of all we must rebuild the churches," Faulhaber said.

The cardinal said he had been well-informed about Nazi brutality in concentration camps and had denounced them repeatedly. He especially tried to help about 300 priests imprisoned at Dachau. He said he could not understand how human beings could behave as the SS and Gestapo in charge of the camps had behaved.

HE FORGOT HIS PANTS—Nazi Colonel von Stern was so taken by surprise when U.S. 9th Army soldiers moved in that he didn't have time to put on his pants before capture. He was German commandant of Oflag-6A near town of Soest. Here American soldier gives military salute to German as he walks out to surrender. Long overcoat covers nude shanks.

Germans Hanging Own Countrymen

By DOUGLAS AMARON

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY, May 4—(CP)—Seven German civilians who tried to persuade German infantrymen to surrender to Canadians were hanged three days ago by SS (Elite Guard) troops in the village of Bummerstede.

Members of the South Saskatchewan Regiment, from Regina and Weyburn, found the bodies hanging from trees when they passed through the village on the way into Oldenburg.

The story other civilians told was this: German infantrymen, bolstered by a handful of SS officers and NCO's were not anxious to fight and were ready listeners to civilians who suggested they quit.

SS members of the battalion heard about this, rounded up the civilians and hanged them.

The infantrymen still are in the line but like other German troops in this area are beating a hasty retreat.

Queen, Princess Arrive in Holland

EINDHOVEN, Holland, May 4—(CP-Aneta)—The free Netherlands radio said last night that Queen Wilhelmina and Princess Juliana of the Netherlands arrived Thursday in liberated Holland. The Netherlands government information service in London also announced the arrival, but added the trip did not constitute the queen's final departure from Britain, where she has lived since the Germans overran her country in 1940.

Earl of Athlone Presents Awards To Airmen at RCAF Station Here

On Thursday afternoon, during the second day of their visit to Edmonton, His Excellency, The Earl of Athlone, Governor General of Canada and Princess Alice visited North West Air Command, RCAF.

In the course of their visit, the principal object of which was to hold an investiture in which six members of the RCAF, received awards, the Vice Regal party made a tour of the station.

The investiture was held on the parade square of the station. Prior to the presentation of the awards, the Governor-General inspected the guard of honor drawn up before the saluting base on which were many high ranking service personnel. Behind the guard of honor were four RCAF squadrons forming a wing under the command of Group Captain D. A. Harding, OBE, AFC, commanding officer of the R.C.A.F. station, Edmonton.

WELCOMED TO STATION

Welcomed to the station by Air Vice Marshal T. A. Lawrence, Air Officer Commanding North West Air Command, the governor general held his investiture immediately after inspection of the guard of honor.

A Group Captain C. C. Durham, MM, Croix de Guerre with Palm, read out the names and citations, the men to receive their awards stepped smartly up to the dias and the Governor General pinned the medals on their tunics.

Group Captain D. A. Harding, AFC, Sarnia, was the first to be decorated by His Excellency, receiving the OBE. The citation read:

This officer throughout his lengthy career in the Royal Canadian Air Force, has exemplified in his personal life and in his direction and participation in station activities, the value of physical fitness. The splendid state of morale and efficiency of the station which he commands reflects the leadership and ability displayed by this officer. By his resourcefulness, exceptional initiative and ability, combined with outstanding devotion to duty, he has made a marked contribution to the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan.

EDMONTON AIRMEN

After Group Captain Harding came Flying Officer J. D. Barber, Edmonton, who received the Distinguished Flying Cross.

His citation read:

Flying Officer Barber has completed in various capacities numerous operations against the enemy in the course of which he has invariably displayed the utmost fortitude, courage and devotion to duty.

The Air Force Cross was presented to Wing Commander W. G. Pate, and the citation read:

Wing Commander Pate is a skillful pilot who has done exceptionally good work since the commencement of hostilities. He has made several successful Atlantic ferry flights under difficult conditions. As Officer Commanding he displayed exceptional organizing ability in opening up a new station and has demonstrated a high sense of devotion to duty and capable and efficient leadership.

RECEIVES BEM

Flight Sgt. L. H. Bourassa, Ottawa, received the award of the British Empire Medal.

The citation read:

This non-commissioned officer, who has been in charge of flight maintenance since the inception of this flight, with untiring energy and zeal has set an excellent example to his maintenance crews. As flight engineer he has flown many hours over isolated routes under trying and hazardous conditions. His efficiency and devotion to duty have been a large factor in the high standard of serviceability and maintenance achieved by this unit.

Flt.-Sgt. Bourassa is with No. 6 Communication Flight, RCAF Station Edmonton.

The British Empire Medal also went to Sgt. W. W. Riglin, Saltcoats, Sask., and the citation read:

This NCO, on Dec. 28 last, in Northern Canada, was a passenger in a single engine aircraft that had engine failure which necessitated a forced landing. This airman, although himself injured, and assisted by another airman, who was also injured, extricated the four other more seriously injured occupants from the blazing aircraft. Despite great personal risk from exploding gasoline tanks, he exhibited outstanding initiative. He rendered first aid to the injured before the arrival of medical personnel, who had to travel to the scene of the accident over a long distance of difficult terrain. Sgt. Riglin's actions displayed courage and devotion to duty of a very high order.

The last man to step before His Excellency also received the B.E.M., and was Cpl. S. N. Galigan, Edmonton.

His citation read:

This aero-engine mechanic has been attached to the North West Staging route for a long period of time and has made very many trips over its isolated northern territory. With determination and skill, he has kept aircraft serviceable under trying and rugged conditions, often with inadequate facilities. With ingenuity and cheerfulness he has set a splendid record of most loyal service and devotion to duty.

LARGE AUDIENCE

The investiture was held before a large crowd of citizens including friends and relatives of those receiving their awards. In addition there were a number of high ranking officers of the armed forces in Edmonton. In addition to His Honor Lt.-Gov. J. C. Bowen and Mrs. Bowen, there were Brig.-Gen. Dale V. Gaffney, commanding general, Alaskan Division, ATC, USAAF; Maj.-Gen. W. W. Foster, CMG, DSO, VD; Lt.-Col. R. W. Hale, MC, ED; Lt.-Cmdr. J. A. Dawson, RCN, and Col. F. W. Hancock, Assistant Commissioner, RCMP.

TAKES SALUTE

During the course of his tour the Governor General visited the flying control tower, nerve centre of the elaborate network controlling flying operations throughout the great north country and met Capt. Jimmy Bell, manager of the Edmonton airport.

After his tour of the airport the Governor General and the Vice-Regal party visited the officers' lounge, where tea was served, and His Excellency and Princess Alice met and talked with a number of officers, who, on completion of their tours of operations in the various theatres of war, have returned to Canada and are now writing aviation history in the Canadian north.

Election Worries Face Canadian Parley Members

By C. R. BLACKBURN

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4.—(CP)—Erecting the framework of a world organization for maintenance of permanent peace is a grim job and Canadian delegates to the United Nations security conference now laboring with that task take it seriously.

But for at least five of them there is another tough job in the offing and that's what occupies their minds and conversation when they relax.

They are the members of the House of Commons who must go out the hustings before the federal general election next June 11 and fight for votes which will send them back to parliament.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King, delegation leader, who again will contest Prince Albert riding, has to spend long hours at conference headquarters and then work late with his secretaries. Presumably some of this work concerns the election.

Mrs. Cora Casselman, only woman delegate, must go back to the opposition of at least four aspiring candidates in her Edmonton East riding where she sits as a Liberal.

Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative house leader, laughs off any suggested troubles he may have getting re-elected in Peel constituency in Ontario but he plans to campaign there and probably elsewhere in aid of his colleagues.

COLDWELL TOUR

M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, has announced no definite plans but he will leave here in time to make a quick Canadian tour.

Justice Minister St. Laurent, deeply interested by the news of political activities in Quebec province, particularly those of P. J. A. Cardin, former works minister, and Camillien Houde, mayor of Montreal, obviously hankers to be back in his Quebec City riding. But his legal skill is expected to be in demand here for the drafting of judicial sections of the proposed world organization.

Burden of carrying Canada's responsibilities in the final stages of the conference may have to be carried almost entirely by the diplomatic advisers of the group, with delegates Senator J. H. King and Lucien Moraud, who do not need to fight elections, doing the signing.

The job would be in able hands since the advisers include Norman Robertson, under secretary of state, Hume Wrong, assistant under secretary; J. B. Pearson, Canadian ambassador to the United States; Dana Wilgress, ambassador to Russia and others all long skilled in international negotiations and League of Nations work.

Laval's Spain Trip A Misunderstanding

By CHARLES S. FOLTZ

MONTJUICH CITADEL, Spain, May 4.—(AP)—Pierre Laval, former Vichy chief of government, told Spanish authorities last night he was unaware of Spain's promise to turn over war criminals to the United Nations, saying if he had been he "would not have come."

Laval arrived here in a German bomber Wednesday and was imprisoned when he defied Spain's orders to leave the country.

He said he was "released" by the Germans from Bolzano, in northern Italy, by a German commander who told him the Nazis were about to surrender in Italy and "since we brought you here against your will you are free to escape if you choose."

In Paris, reliable deplomatic sources said Spain probably will turn Laval over to the French government without waiting for a formal request for a transfer.

Truman Demands Yalta Fulfillment On Polish Issue

WASHINGTON, May 4.—(AP)—Representative John Dingell (Dem., Mich.), told the House of Representatives yesterday that President Truman "has definitely served notice upon Russia, Mr. Stalin, Mr. Molotov and the entire world" that he wants the Yalta Polish agreement fulfilled. The President, Mr. Dingell declared, "stands uncompromisingly for the fulfillment of the understanding entered into under the Yalta agreement" providing for a Polish government representative of all democratic elements in that country.

Quebec Assembly Passes Tax Bill

QUEBEC, May 4—(CP)—The bill providing for a six per cent "luxury" tax on certain articles and services was given final reading last night in the Quebec legislature by a 43-36 vote. All opposition parties voted en bloc against the measure, sponsored by Provincial Treasurer Onesime Gagnon and which had been under study in the House since last week. The tax has been levied since last week when enforcement was ordered before the bill had been given second reading.

Hitler Afraid Use Poison Gas

TORONTO, May 4—(CP)—Professor E. F. Burton, head of the physics department of the University of Toronto, told a service club luncheon yesterday that Allied scientists have saved civilization from undergoing poison gas warfare through their accomplishments in making deadly poisons. He said Hitler did not use poison gas on Allied troops "because he knew the Allies had a more deadly gas to use if he started first."

Fined $450 For False Pretenses

Pleading guilty to a charge of obtaining money by false pretenses Albert J. Moss, Edmonton, was fined $450 by Mr. Justice A. F. Ewing in supreme court, or in default of payment to serve a six months jail term. The fine was paid.

Moss was charged with false pretenses in connection with donations solicited for the rebuilding of the Riverdale Community League hall. He and his partner Roderick McDonald, trading as the M and M Shows, carried out a campaign soliciting donations for the rebuilding of the hall, when in fact a sponsoring contract from League officers permitted them only to sell tickets to a dance, the proceeds of which would be devoted to the rebuilding project.

McDonald was convicted recently on a similar charge and was fined $500 and costs, or in default of payment to serve a six months jail term.

Safety Can Be Stressed at Home

Every day almost we hear of some youngster running from behind a parked car into the street and getting run down. Folks at home can do much to teach the children to cross the street only at the corner—and set a good example when you are crossing the street yourself.

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION

Do you think Adolf Hitler is really dead?

THE ANSWERS

T. CRAMER, bookkeeper: I doubt the Nazi report of Hitler's death in the Berlin battle. It looks too well staged to be true, following the now familiar pattern of Nazi scheming to further some nefarious plan.

* * *

B. WOODS, cook: I doubt if Hitler is really dead. He ran away once before when the going got tough in the early days of Nazilism. I think he's probably done the same think again. But there's one thing the Allies should certainly do; see that the question of Hitler being dead or alive is settled forever. He's too dangerous to live.

* * *

I. McMILLAN, railroader: Hitler, in my opinion was a real fanatic and fanatics love to show off. Therefore I'm inclined to believe he really is dead.

Hollywood Movie Stars Receive Warm Welcome from Large Crowd

Five thousand Edmontonians gathered at the Victory Tower, 101 street and Jasper avenue, Friday to pay tribute to Claire Trevor and George Murphy, Hollywood, stars of stage, screen and radio, who are touring western Canada in behalf of the Eighth Victory Loan.

Miss Trevor was given a rousing welcome as she stepped to the microphone to acknowledge the plaudets of the large crowd. Expressing thanks for their warm welcome, she said "it was as warm as your delightful sunshine, even better than California."

SPLENDID EFFORT

She referred to the splendid effort which Canada had put into the war, and said the people of the Dominion were doing a wonderful job in supporting all Victory Loans.

Mr. Murphy was given an equally cordial welcome when he appeared on the balcony of the Selkirk hotel. As the applause subsided, he said, with a twinkle in his eye, "Wait till I tell Frankie about this."

This sally was greeted with delight by the large audience, and yells of "give us a song, George," resulted in the famous actor singing one of the songs that Frank Sinatra has made famous. This went over so well with the crowd that he had to give a repeat number.

AN OBLIGATION

He said that the job of winning this war did not finish with victory in Europe and the destruction of Japan. "We have a moral obligation to see that the people who did the most important job in winning the war were not forsaken and forgotten in the excitement of the peace."

Miss Trevor presented the special prizes to the leading salesmen in the city's campaign. Those receiving the prizes were: George Hagelstein, Harry Shaw, J. S. Sherriff and H. VanDeelen.

Mr. Murphy presented the payroll flags to the five firms whose employees had attained the highest percentage of quota in bond sales up to Tusday night last. Recipients were: Army and Navy Stores Ltd., Armitage McBain Co. Ltd., Edmonton Credit Co. Ltd., Taylor and Pearson Co. Ltd., and Coca Colo Company of Canada Ltd.

SEEK AUTOGRAPHS

As Miss Trevor and Mr. Murphy left the hotel they were mobbed by a large crowd seeking autographs. A number of 'teen-aged girls attempted to seek Mr.

Service Station, Bakery Ransacked

Entry of two business premises was discovered early Friday morning by city police according to Chief Constable Reg. Jennings. One, the Parliament Service Station, 99 avenue and 109 street, was broken into and entered just three days ago, and $11 in cash was stolen. In the second attempt, it was not learned if anything of value had been taken, as was the case in the entry made into Weston's Limited, 10149 106 street.

Entry in the service station was made by smashing a pane of glass. The premises was thoroughly ransacked and merchandise strewn over the floor.

Weston's Limited was entered by means of the front door, where a glass panel was smashed. W. M. Watson, manager of the bakery, stated that he could find nothing missing after a cursory check of the premises. Investigations are continuing.

Elderly Man Is Badly Hurt Bus Accident

Joseph Carter, 11709 89 street, was rushed to the Royal Alexandra hospital Thursday afternoon, suffering seriously injuries received in a collision with a street railway bus at 96 street and 105A avenue, according to city police.

The 72-year-old man, who was knocked from his bicycle, was believed to have received a possible fracture of the skull, shoulder and arm fracture.

Driver of the bus was Gordon Coleman, motorman, 11823 95 street, who stated that he had reached 105A avenue on 96 street, where he intended turning in to the city garage.

HEARD IMPACT

The bus was partly turned when he heard a thump on the right side of the vehicle. Stopping immediately he discovered the aged man and bicycle on the pavement.

Ward Brown, 11931 81 street, who was in the bus at the time, said that he had observed the cyclist in front and to the right of the bus. Front of the bus passed him, but he collided with the side of it.

At hospital where he was taken by Jack Hays' ambulance Mr. Carter was unable to recall anything about the accident, officers said.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Man of 60 Too Old For Woman of 22

40-Year Gap Between Man and Young Girl Too Wide to Bridge; Couple Might as Well Forget Marriage

DEAR MISS DIX: I am desperately in love with a young lady of 22, as she is with me, and the only obstacle to our marriage is that I am 60, but I am in good health and except that I have gray hair nobody would take me for over 40. We both work in the same defence plant, make good money, are very congenial, and I am sure we could be very happy together, except that a lot of old women have ganged up on us and made her afraid to try it. What do you think?

ANSWER: I am sorry to discourage such a budding love affair, but the difference in your ages is entirely too great and your marriage would be a predestined failure, no matter how much both of you strove to make it a success. The girl is in the springtime of life and you are in its late autumn, and the two can never blend.

Of course, you say you are healthy and strong and still young and nobody would take you for your age. But it isn't true. It is the myth with which all of us deceive ourselves, but Time, with relentless logic, calls our bluff. The years take their toll. They sap our strength. They harden our arteries. They slow our gait. They give us spectacles and a cane in exchange for our clear vision and nimble feet. And we are old, whether we admit it or not.

It has always been a mistake for people to marry outside of their own age class, but it was never such an error as it is now. For in the last few years customs and habits and points of view have simply been revolutionized so completely that [illegible] to build a bridge across the chasm that separates this generation from your generation.

If you married this girl, you would find out that you didn't really have a thing in common. You would bore her and she would bore you to extinction. She would do things that are just a matter of course to her that would shock you [illegible], and you would have habits that would get on her nerves so she could not stand them, and you would both be miserable.

Keep your friendship, but don't try to marry.

DRIFT APART

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a young woman, deeply in love with a soldier who has been overseas for over 17 months. Ours is no war romance. We have known each other for over five years. Almost a year ago his letters to me practically stopped; sometimes I wouldn't hear from him for weeks at a time, with not a line for my birthday or Christmas, or even an acknowledgment of a Christmas package I sent him.

I am sick with worry and cannot understand what is wrong and why. If he doesn't love me any longer he does not tell me so. I used to write to him every night, but now I only write several times a week. I love him so much, but I still have some pride and I don't want to bother him if he has lost interest in me. What shall I do?

JEAN.

ANSWER: Gather your courage together and face the truth. The boy has fallen out of love with you and he is giving you a chance to save your face by breaking off your relationship with him. Take it and save your self-respect and the pity of your friends.

But I offer you this consolation: When people are separated for a long time and their lives are filled with pressing interests and excitement, they often think that they have fallen out of love with someone at home of whom they were fond, but when they go back they find that the fire was just banked, not dead and it flares up into flame again. But this will happen to you only if you step gracefully out of the picture, without whines or complaints or reproaches.

LOVE ONE

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: We are three high school girls, a blonde, a brunette and a redhead, who are deeply in love with the same boy. We are so infatuated with him that we can't eat, sleep, or study because of thinking of him. He takes us out on alternate nights and says he loves us all, but he can't possibly marry all three of us. Which one of us should get him? And how should we solve our problem?

A.D.T.

ANSWER: Well, I should think the way to solve your problem would be to pass him up entirely and centre your affections on three different boys, instead of concentrating them on one. Also, how about alleviating your love sickness by a little study?

Nazi Generals Quit Struggle As Hitler Dead

SOMEWHERE IN GERMANY, May 4—(AP)—Maj. Gens. Arnold Wilhelm, chief communications officer, and Rudolf Schrader, signal supply head, of the German home area have surrendered because they consider themselves freed by Hitler's death from their oath to him, they said yesterday.

The two generals and Schrader's assistant, Col. Otto Kollner, gave up Wednesday.

Since 1934 army officers have been bound solely by a personal oath of allegiance to Hitler. With his reported death officers probably will consider themselves free to act as their consciences dictate.

NOTABLE ADVANCE IN INSURANCE COMPANY'S TEACHING

Well, the big insurance company is giving us the old routine again in full-page picture stories in the popular magazines.

In the very first paragraph the "resistance" hokum is dragged in—"that little cold can use up a lot of your body's resistance against disease." Only God and the fellow who writes the almanacs and the insurance company's picture stories know what "resistance" means, and I know they'll never tell.

The insurance company's picture story describes and illustrates four simple precautions and implies that if you take these precautions "chances are good that you won't be one of the thousands of victims of pneumonia this winter."

1. When a cold strikes—go to bed if possible. At least stay indoors and rest all you can... Be sure to avoid chilling.

2. You must not go to work? Remember that you may inflict your cold on others. If you really must (that is, if you must go to work—of course not if you must inflict your cold on others, for the insurance company would hardly question the right of any blankety-blank blank to inflict his "cold" on whoever happens to come within range), then wear warm, protective clothing, avoid drafts and sudden chilling. Keep your sneezes and coughs covered up.

It is notable that the insurance company's picture story does NOT tell or show how to keep your sneezes and coughs covered up. On the contrary it suggests and pictures in two of the four pictures how to disregard that little precaution and so give the little woman who takes care of you a sample of whatever you are coming down with. Misery likes company.

3. Drink milk, fruit juice, water. Take a laxative if necessary.

4. Treat that sore throat to a gargle—teaspoonful of salt or bicarbonate of soda to a glass of warm water.

Now this whole page of twiddle-twaddle would be screamingly funny were it not for the fact that a good many complacent folk will take it seriously.

In one respect, however, the insurance company's teaching shows improvement over the line of previous years. This year the unpleasant idea that even you may "inflict your cold" on others is unobtrusively touched on.

"And keep away from snifflers".

That's the closing message of the picture story. Now if the insurance company would only draw a little picture showing how you do this, especially when you yourself are the sniffler and you simply must go to work that dear children, would prevent a lot of unnecessary illness.

War Kitchen

By GAYNOR MADDOX

The incidence of nutritional aemia among children is so high that every mother should make sure her children are regularly eating iron-rich foods. Even when babies are first put on solid food, special care must be given to include iron-rich ones, the daily egg yolk is an example. This special care must also be continued through future years. If not, nutritional anemia is an ever-present threat.

BEWARE IRON DEFICIENCY

Nutritionists agree that iron deficiency anemia in children, the condition in which the blood's red color is below normal, is not limited to any one group. Rich youngsters are just as apt to be victims of this affliction as those from poor families.

Specific ways of supplying enough iron to keep the blood's red count up to normal are the use of more unrefined foods such as whole grain cereals and molasses, more green salads, avoiding loss of minerals by cooking vegetables more carefully and including eggs regularly in the meals.

LOUISIANA RICE PUDDING

(Serves 6)

Four cups milk, ½ cup New Orleans-type molasses, ½ cup washed rice, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup raisins.

Mix well. Bake in slow oven (275 degrees to 300 degrees F.) 2½ hours stirring four times every 15 minutes for first hour) and add 1 tablespoon butter in fourth stirring.

CEREAL SOUFFLE

(Serves 4 to 6)

Two tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, 3 egg yolks slightly beaten, ¾ teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, 3 egg whites stiffly beaten, 1 cup whole wheat flakes.

Melt butter in saucepan. Add flour and stir to a smooth paste. Add milk gradually, stirring constantly, and continue cooking and stirring until thickened. Cool slightly. Add egg yolks, salt and pepper and blend. Fold in egg whites and whole wheat flakes. Turn into greased shallow baking dish. Place in pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 40 minutes, or until firm. Serve immediately with cheese, tomato, celery, mushroom or onion sauce.

Points for Parents

By EDYTH THOMAS WALLACE

This

Mother: "Mary, I'll give you two minutes to take that scowl off your face and be pleasant, or go to your room where you will not make mealtime unpleasant for all of us."

Not This

Mother: "A girl your age doesn't have any troubles. Now I've had enough to upset me this morning. Mrs. Jones was so horrid to me over the phone . . . and the clothes line fell down . . . etc., etc."

A happy meal time should be an unalterable rule in every home where good digestion and affectionate relationships are valued.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

The martyr complex is often at the root of a mother's desire to sacrifice herself to her children.

Then the whole world—and maybe the daddy—can see what a conscientious mother she is. All of this is fine within limits.

A parent is a person and needs and should have some life of her own, independent and separate from her life with her children. If a mother has the spirit for making changes when her life is hedged in by family duties, she will manage them. If she says, "Oh, it's too much trouble," or even, "How CAN I?" then, in a manner of speaking, she is sunk.

Mrs. C. H. writes, "I was happy to see your article on a mother's right to freedom. That is so very true and for more than one reason. My husband is overseas and I have three boys, 27 months, 16 months and four months. They did a pretty good job of tying me down hand and foot.

"When my friends began remarking about my quick temper and the way my middle child had become such a 'Mama's baby', I decided we all needed a change of scenery. I took up my old hobby of roller-skating. I joined a club and attend at least once a week. When I go I hire a sister, if I can get one, otherwise, I pile the babies into a big, old carriage and take them ten blocks to my mother's.

"Sometimes, I have to leave some of the housework until next day. But it's all worth it. My boy has lost his dependence on me. Incidentally you'd be surprised at the bright, cheerful letters I can write my honey now that I have an outside interest.

"After all, my husband left a 21-year-old wife. I don't want him to find me looking 10 years older. Even after four years of marriage we are as much in love as ever and I want to keep that love-glow bright. The old saying, 'Where there's a will there's a way' still holds good."

I hoped this letter might inspire mothers weighed down with responsibilities that could hardly be heavier than yours, to recognize that getting away from their children helps them and the children, too.

Our leaflet, "Feeding from One to Two Years," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

BIRDS NEVER FREEZE TO DEATH IN WINTER

The common idea that birds sometimes freeze to death on very cold winter days and nights is erroneous according to zoo keepers and others who have studied birds under such conditions. They say that birds never freeze unless they are first starving; that a bird with something in its stomach has never been known to freeze. Birds have a very high rate of metabolism, and they burn their body fuel very fast in order to keep their temperatures up to the "fever heat" which is normal to them. They never appear to suffer in any way from cold unless they are first hungry. They do not die of the cold, they die of starvation.

I received a letter recently from D. C. Gillette of Ulster, Pa., commenting on the lucky hand of Charlie Sanders. He said it is hands like this that maintain interest in bridge. He further stated that all his bad luck was offset on today's hand when he and his partner made a small slam on a hand that ordinarily would not produce a game.

Opening—♠ 2

He expected much more from his partner with the opening bid of one no trump. When the dummy went down, he was more or less disappointed, but he went to work. He finessed the queen on the opening lead and it held.

Now he led the jack of hearts and East won with the king. East returned the six of hearts which dummy's seven won. The ten of hearts picked up the trump.

The jack of diamonds was played from dummy, West covered and North won with the ace. At this point, he returned a small club and finessed the jack. The king of diamonds was then cashed and now the ace of spades played and a diamond discarded.

A spade was ruffed by the declarer and the last diamond ruffed in dummy with the last heart. At this point the declarer cashed the ace of clubs and East's king fell, so now he was able to lead a small club, finesse his nine spot and win the last trick with the queen of clubs.

Hun Occupation Reached Height Of Brutality

By ROBERT C. WILSON

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, PARIS, May 4—(AP)—The German occupation of France was described by headquarters yesterday as a reign of terror filled with brutality and cruelty "on a scale unequalled in history".

The indictment was made in a documented study by the psychological warfare division "to convince possible skeptics that German atrocities are not just a lot of propaganda".

The study consists of 13 volumes of reports on German crimes throughout France, collected by British and United States officers with the held of the French intelligence service. It will be published soon in the United States and Britain.

In some cases confessions have been obtained from Germans who were subsequently taken prisoner.

POLICY OF REPRESSION

The conclusion of Allied officers who visited scores of French villages, interviewed witnesses and collected photographs of atrocities was: "The whole thing was part of a fixed policy of brutal repression if not extermination".

The study embraced these categories of crime: mass execution of hostages, mass execution of resistance movement members or suspects, mass reprisals, indiscriminate shooting and sacking of towns, routine methods of interrogation by torture, rape and miscellaneous.

It said that in August, 1944 French resistance troops captured a German garrison near Pleubian, Brittany, and other Germans brought up mortars and artillery and forced the French to retreat. Twenty-one Frenchmen surrendered. Ten days later their bodies were found in a trench.

TORTURE PROVEN

"The state of these bodies proved without a shadow of a doubt that the men had been tortured and beaten with inhuman ferocity before being killed," the study said. "No international law can justify such brutality and sadism."

The report said the German method of dealing with the organized French Maquis "was to punish the innocent."

"Men and women arrested on suspicion were beaten and tortured in public after mass executions," the study said. "They would burn farms and whole villages over wide areas, sometimes shooting the inhabitants on sight."

An example of the Nazi torture methods was cited in the case of 17 French resistance members taken from a prison at St. Brieuc last August, whose bodies were later found in a wood.

"Many had their eyes torn out, their tongues cut out, their fingernails missing, welts and bruises all over their bodies and their skulls broken, etc. At least one man was found to have some dirt in his lungs—a sign he had been buried while still alive."

SS Troops Used To Stiffen Morale Of Nazi Sailors

LONDON, May 4—(CP)—Morale of the German navy is so low that when E-boats made their last desperate attempt to cut the supply lines to the Schelde estuary, leading to the port of Antwerp, several months ago German SS (Elite Guard) men served among the flotillas to stiffen resistance, it was disclosed today.

Officers and men of the All-Canadian 65th Motor Torpedo-boat flotilla, surprised by the new fighting spirit shown by Nazi E-boat crews found the answer when they sank an E-boat recently and picked up 2 survivors who told of the SS presence among them.

The SS were so fanatical that one took a revolver shot at Lieut. John Collins of Toronto from a Carley float after the E-boat sank. The shot missed and the SS man committed suicide.

Made a Mistake Rescuing Doenitz

NEW ORLEANS, May 4—(AP)—British-born Capt. William H. John says he made a mistake in the First Great War when his convoy sloop HMS Snapdragon, rescued Admiral Karl Doenitz, then commander of a submarine and now fuehrer of Germany. "I should have killed him right then and there," said Capt. John, now a United States citizen. "He was very arrogant and very much insulted because we had sunk his submarine."

Too Many Captives

LONDON, May 4—(CP)—The Daily Express said today that the Germans had surrendered in such numbers that Britain's facilities for feeding and housing them were inadequate.

23 Misericordia Hospital Nurses Are Awarded Diplomas

Proud parents and friends filled Convocation hall, University of Alberta, to capacity on Thursday evening, when 23 nurses of the graduating class of the Misericordia Hospital School of Nursing received their pins and diplomas at graduating exercises. The nurses, in an impressive ceremony, pledged their vows to fulfill the aims of Florence Nightingale to bring care to the sick.

DR. FRANK LAW

"I am led to observe as a primary point that we should first pay our deep respects to that admirable group that has made your training possible—the Sisters of the Misericordia"—said Dr. Frank F. Law, chairman of the Misericordia hospital medical staff.

During your three years of training you must have observed many times and on many occasions, their sincerity, their honesty and their devotion to duty with complete disregard to things and affairs personal. This graduation time of yours is a direct result of their ministry.

"As I look over your faces, I picture you in my mind as you were three years ago, leaving your homes for the first time and embarking on the first of life's adventures.

This shifting of movement from your homes and into the circulating stream of human endeavor may be regarded as a step in the evolution of mankind since the world began and without which progress and knowledge and scientific advance would be impossible—to quote. "Human nature will not flourish any more than will the seedling, if it be planted and replanted, for too long a series of generations, in the same worn-out soil."

HAVE FRESH MINDS

You, therefore, presented yourself with your fresh minds and eager vitality at the doors of the school of nursing to be taught that noble profession. You will all admit that during your term of training there were many times that you faltered and almost turned back when you would be faced with problems physical, or with fatigue induced by mental strain that so typifies our work.

You, in your case, may look back with a peculiar satisfaction in that you did your job in a time of war when, for that reason the demands upon you were varied and exciting and entailed many extra and unusual sacrifices on your part.

You were, many times, put under severe nervous strain due to the fact that your nursing superiors and the doctors were under extra stress due to overwork and fatigue that is so characteristic of these trying war times. To my mind, the fact that while you may have faltered, you did not turn back and that you completed your job gives you the right to catalogue this in your memory as one of the first and probably the most important mental and physical victories that you will experience

LIFE LIES BEFORE YOU

And now, as time goes on and the wheel of evolution turns, your professional life lies before you and just as the sand dunes, heaped one upon the other hides each the first so in life the former deeds are quickly hidden by those that follow after. You will each take your pathway, some will remain with their school, some will become specials some will do post-graduate work and still others no doubt will feel the arrow of Cupid, become married and have homes and families of their own.

But no matter where you may find yourself it is perhaps pertinent for me to offer you, in my capacity tonight, a word of philosophy and advice—remember this—that very little is needed to make a happy life; be not careless in deed, nor confused in words or rambling in thought look beneath the surface, let not the essentials of a duty nor it's worth escape you.

Be tolerant of your fellow creatures and think on this doctrine that reasoning beings were created for one another's sake; that to be patient is a matter of justice and that men and women sin without intending it. Mark how fleeting and paltry is the estate of man—yesterday in embryo, tomorrow a mummy or ashes. So for the hairsbreadth of time assigned to you, live rationally and part with life cheerfully, as drops the ripe fruit, extolling the season that bore it and the tree that matured it.

CONGRATULATES CLASS

A. A. Campbell, city comptroller, congratulated the graduating class on behalf of the City of Edmonton.

Dr. Allan C. Rankin, dean of medicine, University of Alberta, presented the honorary awards to the following: General proficiency, given by the Sisters of Misericordia, awarded to Miss Inez Helen Shaw; nursing technique, given by the Misericordia Nurses' Alumnae, awarded to Miss Ann Ostashek; prizes given by the medical staff for operating room technique, awarded to Miss Margaret Anderson; for highest average in three years theory, awarded to Miss Rita Grace McEvoy, and for second highest average in three years theory, awarded to Miss Ida Chaffin.

The Florence Nightingale pledge was led by the Rev. Father O. Fournier.

ARCHBISHOP PRESENTED PINS

His Excellency, Most Rev. J. H. MacDonald, DD, Archbishop of Edmonton, addressed the class, urged the nurses to hold high the splendid ideals of their profession and he presented the school pins and conferred the diplomas.

Miss Ivy Harries gave the valedictory, bidding farewell to teachers, doctors and fellow nurses

Mrs. Imelda Olsen played the processional and recessional marches, and she played an organ solo.

Dr. R. E. Jespersen sang a solo.

Alberta Bonds Rise in Price

According to word received here from Montreal Friday Alberta bonds, which have risen steeply in the past two weeks are firmer in the provincial bond market.

This is believed to reflect investors' confidence in the outcome of plans for reorganizing the province's public debt structure.

New York was the chief source of the buying and some orders could not be filled for lack of offerings.

An announcement from Premier Ernest Manning on the Alberta government's decision on refunding is likely to be made Friday following a caucus of provincial Social Credit MLA'S.

The caucus has been discussing proposals of the cabinet following meetings with representatives of the bondholders.

Full Program Is Arranged Visiting Stars

Murphy's pocket handkerchief without success.

So great was the press about the two Hollywood stars that they had to be smuggled into an hotel room while the crowd was cleared from the hallways and staircase of the hotel.

Friday afternoon they visited the American base hospital and also the Col. Mewburn Pavilion, and in the evening they will make a personal appearance again at the Victory Tower.

TOSS OF COIN

It was the toss of a coin that made an actress out of Claire Trevor, who plays a colorful lady gambler in the Columbia Technicolor picture, "The Desperadoes" with Randolph Scott, Glenn Ford, Evelyn Keyes and Edgar Buchanan also featured.

Had the coin dropped "heads" instead of "tails", the blond beauty would have been a professional artist today.

Except for a childhood adventure into the theatre when, at the age of eight, she appeared in a production of Maeterlinck's "The Blue Bird" in New York, Claire's early training was all aimed at an art career. After an early education in grammar school and high school in Mamaroneck, N.Y., Miss Trevor attended classes at Columbia University and planned to continue her studies at Smith College.

A friend, noting her beauty and expressiveness, gave her a folder of the American Academy of Dramatic Arts. That folder intrigued her and she wondered if, after all it wouldn't be fun to be an actress. She tossed a coin. If it came "heads", she said, she would continue with her art. If it fell "tails", she would give acting a whirl. It fell "tails" and Claire enrolled in the Dramatic Academy.

But, her first play at the school vetoed her decision. Self-conscious and dissatisfied with her performance, she gave it up.

DETERMINED CAREER

It was months later, after having returned to her art studies, that she met Gregory Deane, a college friend, who had become an actor. He took her to a party, where she met several theatrical agents. Their enthusiasm about her ended her doubts and restored her confidence. She determined to become an actress or else.

Her first important appearance was in Anton Chekov's play, "The Sea Gull," in a stock company in Ann Arbor, Michigan. Her Broadway debut came in 1932 in "Whistling in the Dark," with Ernest Truex and Edward Arnold. Then came "The Party's Over," in which she scored a big personal hit in the feminine lead. That was 1933 and her next stop was Hollywood with a long term contract. Since then she has appeared in more than forty screenplays.

George Murphy was well on his way to becoming a mining engineer when he nearly lost his life in a Pennsylvania coal mine and lost all interest in the profession.

He was born in New Haven, Conn., and educated at Newton school in Philadelphia, Pawling, Peddie Institute and Yale. He was a star track man, and also shone at football, baseball and basketball.

After the mining accident, he tried a number of jobs including that of a Wall Street runner. Then he fell in love with a dancer, Juliette Johnson, and learned to dance. They teamed up together and enjoyed a great success in smart clubs both in this country and in Europe. They were married in 1927 and have two children.

FIRST SCREEN APPEARANCE

In 1928, George played the junior lead in "Good News," and followed through with several Broadway hits. In 1931 Eddie Cantor, preparing for "Kid Millions" saw an old test of George's and asked for him. He sang in this, his first screen appearance.

Since then George has developed into a triple-threat screen star. He can dance, sing and act straight with equal facility, and has become one of the most popular of versatile stars on the screen. His most recent successes are "This is the Army," "Broadway Rhythm," "Show Business," and "Step Lively." His current role in "Having Wonderful Crime" gives him one of his best straight comedy roles.

He is five feet 11½ inches tall, weighs 175 pounds and has brown hair and blue [illegible]

WING CMDR R H HARRISON

Name Barrister As Candidate In Wetaskiwin

Wing Commander R. H. Harrison, Leduc, barrister and formerly of Edmonton, was nominated as Liberal candidate in the Dominion general election of June 11, at a regularly-constituted convention held on Thursday.

There were 50 delegates in attendance at the convention, which was held at the Wetaskiwin Elks' hall.

UNANIMOUS

In addition to Wing Cmdr. Harrison the following names were placed in nomination: A. P. Mitchell, Millet; R. Gillespie, Wetaskiwin, Thomas Wilks, Lacombe. They all withdrew leaving Wing Cmdr. Harrison's nomination unanimous.

Wing Cmdr. Harrison addressed delegates as did H. A. Dyde of Edmonton. The latter dealt with rehabilitation of veterans generally and with the social reforms that had taken place during the last session of Parliament.

The candidate joined the RCAF at Leduc in the first year of the war and recently was returned to Canada from duty overseas.

Officers elected for the Wetaskiwin Constituency Liberal Association were as follows: Honorary president, Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King; honorary vice-president, Hon. J. A. MacKinnon, minister of trade and commerce; president, H. J. Montgomery, Wetaskiwin; vice-president, H. A. Calder, South Edmonton; secretary-treasurer A. P. Mitchell, Millet.

North Air Line Operation Topic Of Conversations

At the request of the Dominion department of transport, representatives of Trans-Canada Air Lines are having conversations with representatives of Canadian Pacific Air Lines, with regard to operation of the Whitehorse to Fairbanks air route, Hon. James A. MacKinnon, minister of trade and commerce, said Friday.

He said he will commence his campaign after May 14 and is scheduled to address meetings in Edmonton and at district points. The minister expects to remain in the city for about six weeks, with possible trips to Ottawa during that time, if national and international developments beckon.

TO BE NOTIFIED

Mr. MacKinnon said he will be notified immediately on completion of arrangements for the northern air route and is expecting word momentarily. He said the department of transport had been asked to have the line operated from Edmonton to Alaska or to make arrangements with Canadian Pacific Air Lines to extend their present service from Whitehorse to Fairbanks. It is this topic which is under negotiation at present the minister stated.

The air route has been the topic for recent conversations between the department of transport and the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce. Interest has been shown throughout the city in establishment and development of the route.

Referring to the housing situation in Edmonton Mr. MacKinnon [illegible] construction of 100 wartime houses in the Ritchie district was underway, with contracts for their erection signed. He said the present construction would be followed up with [illegible] of another 100 houses, possibly in another section of the [illegible]

UNDER WAY

He declared that Ottawa would have preferred to build the houses as permanent dwellings, but this had been prevented through shortage of material and labor. The Jesuit college and Exhibition grounds housing reconversion program was also underway.

Mr. MacKinnon announced that with the nomination of Wing Cmdr. R. C. Bob Harrison at a Liberal nominating convention in Wetaskiwin Thursday afternoon, the list of 17 Liberal nominees in Alberta had been completed. He expressed confidence in the ability of each of the candidates.

Mr. MacKinnon is accompanied by Max Friedman, public relations official for the department of trade and commerce.

District News In Brief

Red Deer Veterans Arrive At Homes

RED DEER—Six more Red Deer boys, including three five-year veterans of the 92nd Battery, RCA, arrived home this week from overseas service with the forces.

BSM Jack Stephenson, Sgt. Donald B. White and Gnr. Clarence Sole are three men who joined the Battery when it was mobilized in Edmonton on the outbreak of war. After training in Edmonton, they went overseas in December, 1939.

BSM Stephenson and Gnr. Sole served with the Canadians in Sicily and Italy and have returned from Western Europe where they went when the 1st Division was moved from Italy earlier this year. BSM Stephenson, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Stephenson, Red Deer, was married in the Old Country and his wife and son have been making their home here since October, 1943. Gnr. Sole's mother, Mrs. M. E. Sole, lives at Red Deer.

Sgt. White, who enlisted at Red Deer, was with the artillery for some time before transferring to another unit, and went through the Sicilian and Italian campaigns. His wife is living in Edmonton, at 11841 89th street.

L-Bdr. R. F. Lagace, who was one of the first men from Red Deer to go on service at the Pacific coast when war started, returned home this week. His wife came from Calgary with him. Lagace was on the West Coast for some time, later going overseas where he served for nearly five years. He is a son of Frank Lagace, Red Deer.

Pte. T. A. Clarke also returned. His wife, Mrs. Agnes Clark, lives here.

Another local boy, PO. John A. Stephenson, RCAF, is home on leave visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Stephenson. He joined the RCAF about three years ago and graduated as a navigator. PO. Stephenson was commissioned overseas, where he served for close to two years, and completed a tour of operations.

A former resident of this city, Flt.-Lt. G. C. Boyer, of Edmonton has also returned to Canada after overseas service with the RCAF. Before joining the Air Force he was a member of the staff of the local branch of the Royal Bank.

KC Hut Red Deer Now Closed Down

RED DEER—The Knights of Columbus Hut in Red Deer closed this week after serving men and women in the armed forces for more than three years. The hut was opened in December 1941, and since that time has been the centre of [illegible] camp and the air station.

The building had been used as a [illegible] and was bought by the city of Red Deer from the [illegible] G. H. [illegible]. With the closing of the hut the Red Deer Elks have bought the building and are making alterations in it.

Freed By Allies

RED DEER—Two more Red Deer boys, Trooper Jim Hilsabeck and his brother Trooper Fred Hilsabeck, have been released from a German prison camp by the Allied forces. Mrs. N. Hilsabeck, of Red Deer, received two telegrams on Tuesday [illegible] telling her that they are free and now in London.

The Hilsabeck boys went overseas with the Calgary Tanks in the summer of 1941, and were taken prisoner at Dieppe. Another Red Deer district man, Trooper [illegible] Leithead, also taken at Dieppe, was released from a German P-O-W camp last month.

River Breaks

PEACE RIVER—The breakup of the Peace river, last Sunday is speeding preparations by navigation companies who were forced to cancel early sailing dates on account of unseasonable cold weather. It will require a considerable raise in the water level to clear away large parts of ice [illegible] before sailings can be undertaken.

Castor Farmer Named Candidate

HANNA—J. A. Williams, Castor farmer was chosen Progressive Conservative candidate for the Acadia riding in the forthcoming general election. Mr. Williams has been a resident here for many years.

Lacombe Arranges War Garden Space

LACOMBE—The Board of Trade has again arranged with the Dominion Experimental Farm for war garden space. For the last several years, over 40 gardeners have taken advantage of the generosity of experimental farm officials and have cultivated gardens. Many tons of vegetables have been raised to materially help ease the food situation in town.

Hon. R. E. Ansley, minister of education, declared at a recent meeting of town and school board officials in Lacombe that his department could not give financial assistance for the building of a new school. He urged local school board members to co-operate with one of the large school divisions in an endeavor to raise funds to build a new and larger school in the town.

Truck Damaged By "Uphill" Fire

PEACE RIVER—A truck driven by A. Boisvert of Girouxville caused some excitement Wednesday, when the half holiday silence was broken by the shrieking of the fire brigade, about a mile up the Grouard Hill where the truck was burning fiercely.

Traffic was held up, and it was almost an hour before the fire could be brought under control as the gas and reserve gas tank containing almost a barrel of gas, fed the flames.

Fireman punctured the tanks and concentrated on keeping the gas from igniting. The truck was seriously burned and some cargo was also damaged.

North Weather

PEACE RIVER—Hot weather has finally arrived and snowbanks, unusual at this time of the year, disappeared like magic. Farm lands are still very wet but farmers are feeling better as the continuance of a [illegible] sun will permit a few of them to get going by the end of this week.

Three boys from town are reported safe after being prisoners and missing, Joe and Alex Basarab, and Charles Van Der Mark.

The Enilda WI held a pie social and dance to obtain funds to send a delegate to the convention. The sum of $65 was cleared.

RED DEER—Lloyd and Jim Quinton, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Chris. Quinton, of the Horn Hill district, had a happy reunion in London recently when they saw each other for the first time in four years. Their parents had a letter this week from the boys telling of their accidental meeting in London where they spent two days together. Lloyd Quinton went overseas with the Calgary Tanks in 1941 and was wounded in action in Italy in May, 1944, while his brother went overseas last winter.

Tax Commission Has Finished Hearing Briefs

OTTAWA, May 4.—(CP)—The Royal commission on co-operatives yesterday completed hearing of evidence in a four-month investigation of the position of co-operatives under present tax legislation.

Proposals for changes in the legislation to more specifically exempt co-operatives from income and excess profits were placed before the commission at its final hearing by [illegible] Good of Brantford, Ont., president of the Co-operative Union of Canada.

He proposed that a [illegible] within a definition of co-operative should be entirely exempt if not more than [illegible] per cent of their business was outside their membership; if between 20 and 50 per cent [illegible] would be taxed at that proportion of their business and if the percentage went above that mark they would be subject to the same tax as joint-stock companies.

HAS CROSSED CANADA

The five-man commission, under the chairmanship of Mr. Justice [illegible] McDougall of Montreal, began its enquiry in Vancouver last January and since then has toured Canada going as far east as Halifax. Members of the commission are: B. N. Arnason, Regina; G. A. Elliott, Edmonton; J. M. Nadeau, [illegible] and J. J. Vaughan, Toronto.

The basic question which the commission has to decide is whether Canadian co-operatives, which they have been informed have a membership of more than 600,000 and an annual business approaching $400,000,000, should be made subject to income and excess profits taxes to which privately-owned businesses are liable.

Supporters of the co-operatives have argued that serving their members at cost they have technically no income and no profit and so should not be subject to tax.

OPPOSITE VIEW

In opposition to this view the commission has heard evidence from private businesses who say they are suffering from the competition of co-operatives and unless the variation in tax treatment is removed the co-operatives will eventually force their privately owned competitors out of business.

In Coming Election

Service Nominees Will Keep Reinforcement Issue to Fore

OTTAWA, May 4.—(CP)—Nomination of scores of servicemen as federal election candidates promises to keep to the fore the reinforcement issue, which created national controversy last autumn and led to a special session of parliament. So far more than 60 service candidates have been nominated.

Highest ranking officer nominated so far is Gen. McNaughton, whose policies in the defence ministry in connection with conscription for overseas service have been the subject of nation-wide argument. The former overseas army commander has been nominated Liberal candidate for his native riding of Qu'Appelle in Saskatchewan.

Lt.-Gen. E. W. Sansom, retired from the army, now is Progressive Conservative candidate for his native York-Sunbury riding in New Brunswick.

Former chief of the Pacific Command, Maj.-Gen. George R. Pearkes V.C., has become Progressive Conservative candidate for Nanaimo, B.C. His Liberal opponent is Lt.-Col. Alan Chambers, who represented the riding in the last parliament and who recently won the Distinguished Service Order for his work as a member of Canadian Army Intelligence overseas.

FOURTH GENERAL

Another army general running in opposition to his old chief's party is Maj.-Gen. C. B. Price of Montreal, former 3rd division commander and later overseas Red Cross commissioner, who is running as Progressive Conservative candidate against Navy Minister Abbott in the Montreal constituency of St. Antoine Westmount.

The CCF's highest-ranker is Air Vice-Marshal A. E. Godfrey, of Brockville, Ont., a retired permanent force air officer, who ran against Gen. McNaughton and the successful Progressive Conservative candidate, W. Garfield Case, in the turbulent Grey North by-election. He is running in Leeds in Ontario in the general election.

The Progressive Conservatives who have nominated the most servicemen candidates [illegible] running two lieutenant-colonels and a wing commander in the [illegible] Prince Edward Island ridings and a squadron leader—Walter Nelson—against Prime Minister Mackenzie King in Prince Albert.

M. J. Coldwell, the CCF leader, will have as opposition in his home-town-Biggar riding in Saskatchewan Flt-Lt. F. A. G. Hamilton, a Progressive Conservative.

ALL SERVICE CANDIDATES

In some ridings, all candidates will be servicemen. In Skeena, British Columbia, the Progressive Conservative candidate is Maj. T. H. Harvey while the CCF candidate is LAC. Harry Archibald. Tried Experiments On Captive Women

NEW YORK, May 4.—(CP)—Further details of medical "experiments" made on women prisoners of a Nazi concentration camp near Leipzig were received yesterday by the Polish Telegraph Agency which quoted the human guinea pigs as saying that 30 of 80 women died while the survivors were left crippled and deformed.

The German doctors, the agency's correspondent said, chose 80 of the healthiest of 600 so-called "Lublin women" for their experiments, which included various forms of internal operations, experiments on bones and muscles; injections for tuberculosis and tetanus.

Tortures practiced on these women, the correspondent said, were "so shocking that they cannot be printed."

Nurse Shortage Reported Acute

AMHERST, N.S., May 4.—(CP)—Shortage of nurses in the Highland View hospital and tuberculosis annex here is so acute that former patients cured of the disease have been asked to offer their services to tend patients now taking treatment. The plan has been adopted successfully at the hospital in Antigonish, N.S.

Seeding Plans In West Areas Are Disrupted

WINNIPEG, Man., May 4.—Farmers' seeding plans have been upset. Seeding will be underway from ten days to a month later than usual. This will tend to reduce wheat acreage, and the weatherman has co-operated closely with government officials who asked for a reduction of wheat acreage this year, according to the first weekly crop report of the department of agriculture of the Canadian National Railways.

Wheat acreage reduction will be offset by increases in coarse grains and in additional land for summerfallow. Seeding will not be general until between May 10 and 15 and even then, in some districts, very little work will be done unless good drying weather prevails consistently from now on.

MOISTURE VARIES

Moisture conditions vary from excessive to below normal but cold, wet weather and local snow flurries have, in the drier districts, prevented land operations. Flax acreage will fluctuate. Present intentions would indicate not much change in acreage.

Swine production is being maintained in some districts, but at other points the decrease will vary from 5 per cent to 35 per cent due to lack of help and the good prices prevailing for coarse grains.

In the Red River valley and across the Portage plains in Manitoba, moisture is excessive in many places and even the higher knolls are soggy. Some localities consider only about half the anticipated wheat acreage will be seeded, throwing this extra land into coarse grains. The average for the whole territory will be a reduction in wheat acreage of approximately 15 per cent.

BARELY STARTED

In southern Saskatchewan, seeding has barely started and will not be general until about May 9. Moisture is sufficient for germination but there is no reserve. Wheat acreage will vary from similar to last year in some districts to a reduction of about 10 per cent, while oats will increase from 5 per cent to 10 per cent and barley from 10 per cent to 15 per cent.

In south central Alberta, seeding is from 10 days to a month late. Moisture is normal. Wheat acreage decrease will vary from 5 per cent to 20 per cent with oats and barley increasing similar amounts.

Throughout north central Alberta weather has been cold with several light snowfalls and surface moisture conditions are good. Seeding is about two to three weeks later than usual and the lateness of the season will see a decrease in wheat acreage of between 10 percent and 20 percent, with a similar increase in oats, and other grains will remain about the same.

In the Peace River, all work is backward as soil conditions are not favorable. Warmer weather is required. Wheat acreage will be decreased but percentage cannot be determined at this time. Coarse grain acreage will increase by wheat acreage decrease, and summerfallow will also increase.

Soviets Take Over Berlin Broadcasts

NEW YORK, May 4.—(AP)—The Berlin radio went back into operation last night—with the Red Army broadcasting.

As recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, one speaker, answering the question, "What does Berlin look like today?" declared.

"If the suburbs of the city have remained partially intact, then the central parts are completely devastated. Here is the Reichstag building. We found it in the shape it was following the fires started by the Fascists in 1933, with the exception of direct hits by our heavy shells. The Red banner now is flying over the Reichstag.

"Here is the famous Brandenburg gate. The Germans had surrounded it with piles of sandbags, and a hospital had been set up there. One part of the gate is smashed. Atop the gate, just as over the neighboring buildings, the Red banner has been hoisted.

"The new Imperial Chancellory—Hitler's Berlin residence—has been destroyed by aerial bombs and heavy shells from our guns. Next to it is the aviation ministry building. . . ."

Yugoslavs Claim Italy Victories

NEW YORK, May 4—(AP)—The Yugoslavs claimed last night that they alone captured Trieste and Gorizia in disputed northeast Italy, that New Zealanders entered without their consent and that there might be "unwished-for consequences" unless the differences were immediately settled.

The Belgrade broadcast a statement by the Yugoslav army headquarters denying an announcement by Allied headquarters in Italy that New Zealanders had captured both cities in Istria, where territorial claims conflicted after the First Great War.

The broadcast, heard by the federal communications commission, said the New Zealand division "could not occupy Trieste harbor and the towns of Trieste and Gorizia since these towns were liberated after bloody and heavy battles by the Yugoslav army."

"Similarly," it continued, "no German garrison whatsoever could have surrendered in these places, since as early as April 30 these towns were completely cleared of enemy troops by our own forces."

King George Lauds Victory at Rangoon

LONDON, May 4—(Reuters)—King George last night sent Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, Allied commander in southeast Asia, "hearty congratulations on the brilliant success achieved by all arms and services in the capture of Rangoon." Rangoon's capture has not yet been reported from southeast Asia headquarters, latest reports saying merely that British troops had entered the Burma capital.

It would take, because of the United States immigration quotas, 150 years for the United States to admit the 15,000 Australian girls wearing American engagement rings.

Active Buying Oats Futures

WINNIPEG, May 4—(CP)—Trading on the Winnipeg grain exchange today was featured by an active market in oats futures. Elevator companies were fairly liberal hedgers. Support was credited to shippers and mills. Dealings were particularly heavy in the May option. Closing values were at unchanged to ¼ lower.

Uncertainties of war developments again reflected in the export and domestic trade and no important business was transacted.

Rye futures moved within a narrow range, closing ⅞ higher to unchanged. Outside interests were on both sides of the market.

May closed at $1.50⅝, July $1.43⅞, October $1.28 and Dec. $1.25½.

Local Produce

BUTTER PRICES

No. 1, 34½; No. 2, 32½; No. 3, 30½.

CREAM PRICES

Prices for cream delivered to Edmonton creameries: Special grade, 45; No. 1, 44; No. 2, 38; off grade, 33.

All prices include government bonus of 10c to farmers.

EGG PRICES

Dealers now paying to country shippers: A large, 30; A medium, 28; A pullet, 21; grade B, 24; grade C, 18-19.

Wholesale to retail: A large, 37; A medium, 35; A pullet, 29; grade B, 31; grade C, 27.

Retail to consumers: A large, 44; A medium, 42; A pullet, 36; grade B, 38; grade C, 32.

The general situation on this egg market remains practically unchanged over last week, except for the increased volume through export channels. Reports as received from registered grading stations show receipts steady and practically equal to last week's volume. It is generally considered that the peak of production has been reached for this season, and expectations are that present volume will hold steady during the next three to four weeks. The general quality is showing deterioration, and has about reached its lowest point for the season. Carlot offerings through the Special Products Board show an increase of seven cars over the preceding week with twelve carlots grade A large and medium rolling to seaboard for shipment to Great Britain, nine carlots for immediate drying, eight carlots stored for fall export and three carlots for breaking and freezing. Other movement has been practically nil, except for small I.C.I. shipments northward.

POULTRY PRICES

Both the live and dressed poultry market remains rather inactive. Receipts of live poultry are confined to a few scattered deliveries of fowl and broilers, which are meeting with ready local demand. One carlot of frozen turkeys rolled to Ontario and 200 boxes frozen fowl moved interprovincially. All quotations remain unchanged.

HATCHERY OUTLOOK

This week's summary is based on reports received from 16 operators with a total setting capacity of 2,025,133 eggs. Total eggs set by these since the start of the season, 4,050,044, with total chicks hatched to date 2,145,749. Percentage of hatches for the past week average 62 per cent.

Bookings for delivery after May 15th are much lighter than previous years, especially on Leghorns and New Hampshires, consequently a few of the larger commercial hatcheries will be discontinuing setting these breeds, especially Leghorns, this week unless the situation improves. A number of Leghorn breeders are reported as changing from Leghorns to New Hampshires. This change is more noticeable this year than previous years. Booking for Barred Rocks generally is solid up to June 10th, 1945. However, the demand for this breed ranks behind New Hampshire and Leghorns in that order. The counter sales of chicks is reported to have reached unexpected proportion this year. The demand for cockerel chicks, both light and heavy breeds is reported as being excellent to good, with no gassing reported over the past few weeks.

90 Candidates In Field For Social Credit

With word from Quebec Province that the party will nominate 42 candidates, total number of Social Credit standard-bearers in the general election campaign has now mounted to 90 throughout the Dominion, Hon. Solon E. Low, leader of the National Social Credit Association, announced Friday.

Mr. Low will open a strenuous personal campaign that will carry him from one end of the nation to the other when he addresses a meeting at Boyle Saturday, where the party's candidate for Athabasca constituency will be chosen.

ALBERTA CAMPAIGN

Premier Ernest Manning will participate in the campaign in Alberta as will other cabinet ministers and 14 Social Credit members of the Legislative Assembly.

Alberta cabinet ministers generally will confine their campaign speech-making to Alberta constituencies although in cases where business takes ministers to other parts of the Dominion they will probably address meetings in support of party candidates, Mr. Low explained.

Provincial members of the legislature will, however, comply with invitations to address meetings in Saskatchewan, Manitoba and B.C. federal constituencies in addition to assisting the party's federal candidates in Alberta, the leader stated.

Mr. Low declared on the eve of opening his campaign that he feels: "We have a very good chance of becoming the official opposition in the next parliament."

Following the Boyle meeting Saturday Mr. Low speaks in Saskatchewan, at Humbolt, Canora and Prince Albert.

Thursday he will be at Dawson Creek and Friday at Fort St. John.

On May 14, 15 and 16 the leader will address meetings in and around Winnipeg. May 17, 18 and 19 will find him at Toronto and Ottawa and in Quebec on May 21 and 22.

He will conclude his eastern campaign on May 23 and 24 in New Brunswick, returning to Alberta for meetings in the Peace River on May 26.

The remainder of the Alberta tour is as follows:

June 4, Lacombe; June 5, Calgary; June 6, Cardston; June 7, Olds; June 8, Grande Prairie; June 9, Berwyn and Peace River.

Mosquito Aircraft Shown at Week-End

Edmontonians will have another opportunity this weekend to view a display of aircraft at North West Air Command station nere. The display has been arranged in connection with Canada's 8th Victory Loan Drive and will feature a Canadian built Mosquito.

The Mosquito will be on display from 2 p.m. until 5 p.m. Saturday and from 2 p.m. until 4:30 p.m. on Sunday. At that time the "Mossie" will take off for Vancouver, and visitors to the airport will have an opportunity to see the plane in action.

Visitors to the airport will have many questions to ask in connection with the Mosquito and to take care of this, the National War Finance Committee has completed arrangements for S-L Harold Lisson, DFC of 11740 95A street, to be in attendance, in addition to the crew of the aircraft. Lisson was commanding officer of the City of Edmonton squadron at the time of its adoption by the City and completed a tour of operations on Mosquitoes.

League Meeting Is Well Attended

An enthusiastic gathering of North Edmonton residents attended the monthly meeting of the North Edmonton Community League in preparation of the May 24 sports. Progress reports were given by the various committees and plans laid for a successful annual event. The meeting went on record as favoring the present sports ground location for a permanent playground and park centre rather than the civic site on 71 street and 128 avenue.

A full program of events was drawn up starting at 10 a.m. with activities going on all day, climaxed with a grand dance in the Horse Hills hall at 9 p.m. The children's races start at 10 a.m. followed by a ball game and the bicycle races. At 2 p.m. the novelty races and a girls' ball game will run concurrently while two wrestling matches with stage attractions will feature the program. The community auction sale and a ball game start at 4 p.m. followed at 6:30 by a hardball game. Tug-o-war and horseshoe games will attract many participants and spectators during the afternoon. Games, bingo and a filling station of hot dogs and drinks will keep both old and young in a good mood.

A bicycle draw will be combined with the admission ticket. Some of the committee heads are Mr. and Mrs. O. Byers, C. Hall, A. Leng, D. Holeton, B. Hager, Mrs. Dinney, T. A. Powell and F. Barrigan.

Motor Association Members Increase

April was a red letter month in the history of the Alberta Motor Association, when the largest increase in membership for a month was achieved, according to W. C. Caton, secretary of the organization.

During April, the motor club signed up 800 members, an increase of 326 over the same month last year.

Total regular membership has also reached an all time high of 3,509, with an associate membership of 2,175. Total increase in membership for the last six months is 1,145.

In April, 1944, regular members and 259 associate members were written by the Edmonton branch for a combined total of 733. This year, 800 regular members and 470 associate members were written for a combined total of 1,270, which represents an increase of 537 for the month.

Mr. Caton attributes the increase to the gradual education of the motoring public to the benefits of the AMA organization.

During 1945, the organization has set records in the sale of license plates, driver's licenses, and issuing gasoline ration books.
